41ST YEAR NO. 49 PUB. NO. 635-340 PHONE (508) 658-2346 WILMINGTON, MASS. DECEMBER 4 1996 FAX (508) 658-2266 Copyright 1996 Wilmington News Co., Inc. 40 PAGES Plus supplement

New public safety building advised

The Wilmington Permanent Building Committee will recommend to the Board of Selectmen the town build a new public safety center.

The new building would be slated for the corner of Adelaide and Church streets. The proposed new center would house the Fire and Police departments.

A 5 million dollar debt exclusion will be recommended to the Board of Selectmen for presentation to Town Meeting. .

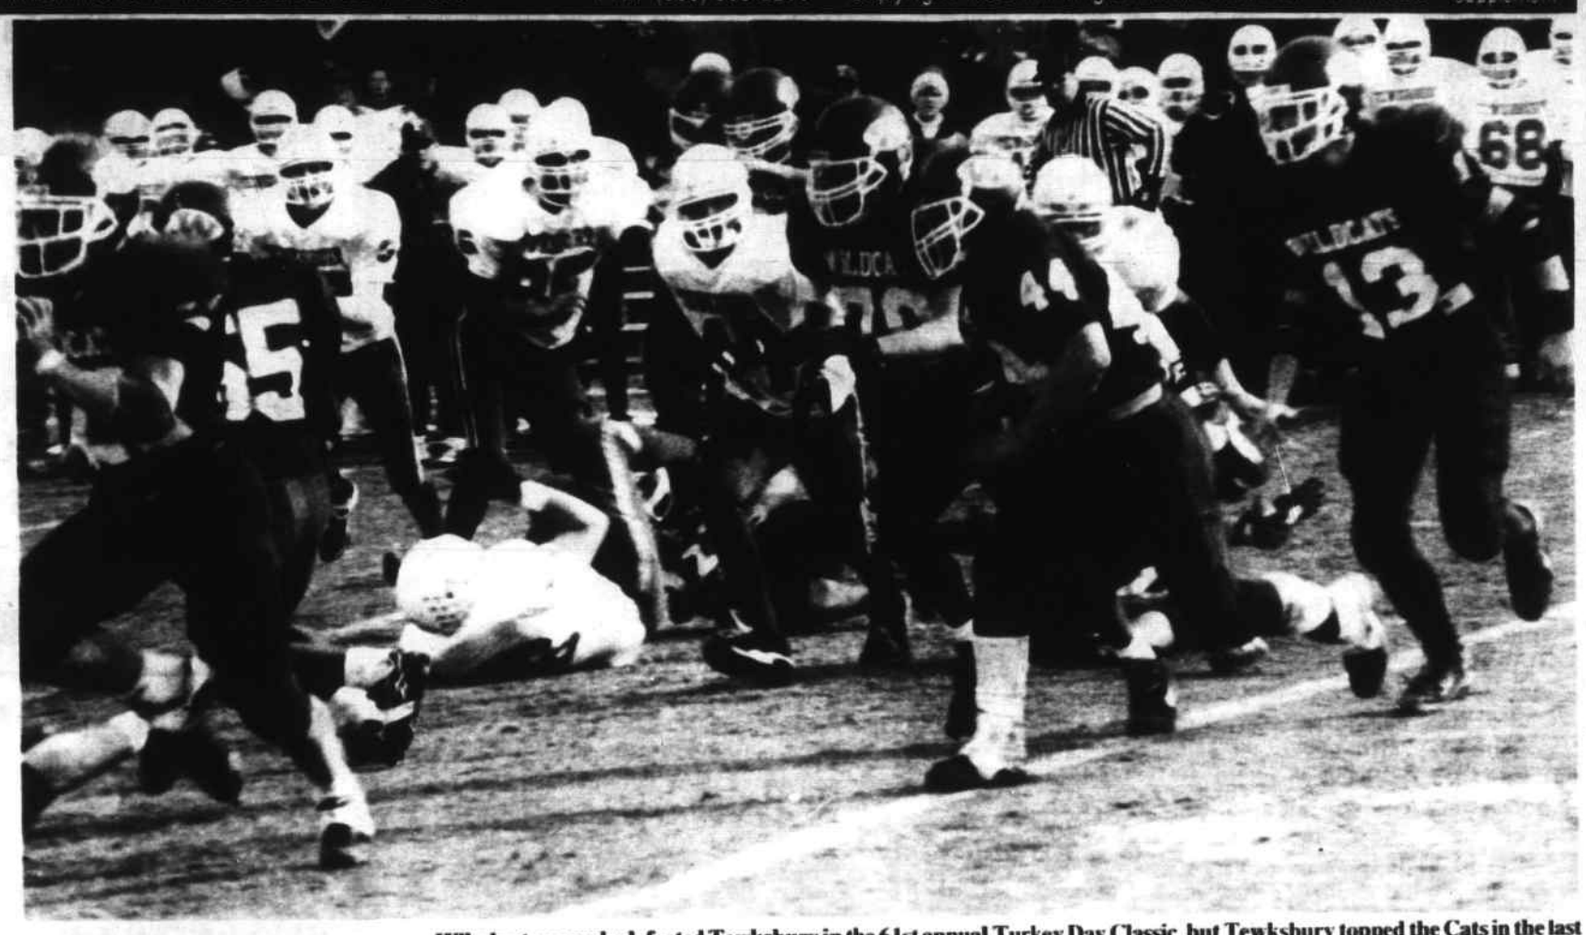

Fire chief Daniel Stewart would prefer a single structure, but understands the towns need to conserve funds. "We have definitely outgrown the space we have now, it's inadequate." Stewart said.

"We could work well in a combined facility if it met our space and technical needs"

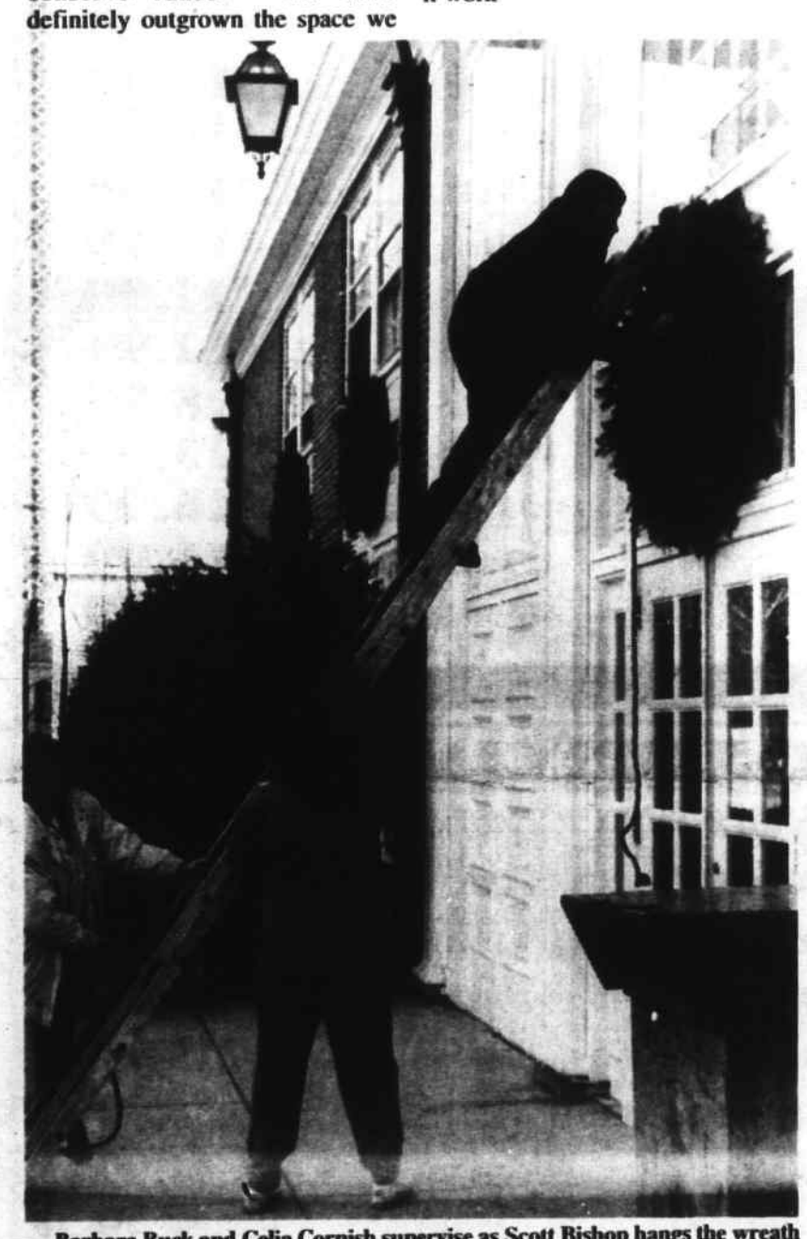

Police chief Bobby Stewart is "very happy" by the decision of the committee. "It's very practical, and should bring the two departments closer." Stewart said.

"We are both in the public safety business, and we have common interests, for example there is a real need for a central dispatch center. Especially with the new 9-1-1 system, calls can be handled faster."

"The design is the key to making it work"

Wilmington nearly defeated Tewksbury in the 61st annual Turkey Day Classic, but Tewksbury topped the Cats in the last quarter, taking the game and keeping their winning tradition. Story in the sports section.

Barbara Buck and Celia Cornish supervise as Scott Bishop hangs the wreath on the front of the Wilmington Memorial Library. The Wilmington Garden Club has decorated the Library for the past several years.

Santa's address

Sometimes even Santa gets misdirected. Last week on this page appeared a story of a local man who is raising money for the Wilmington Community Fund Food Pantry by offering "Letters from Santa" Jim Murray will be accepting donations for $2.50 and up in exchange for a letter from Santa promising the "appropriate gift" All money collected will be donated to the Community Fund. Postage, printing and handling will all be done by volunteers.

But sometimes even Santa gets a little lost. The story last week omitted one very important detail: Where is Santa!?!

Well, Santa is receiving mail at the North Pole

25 Lowell St.
Wilmington, MA 01887

Checks should be made to the Wilmington Community Fund, in any amount over $2.50. Letters should accompany the checks so Santa can reply. Please include a good hint so Santa can promise something that will be delivered – don't want to disappoint any tykes.

Children can.be of any age. Your mother or sweetheart might enjoy getting a letter from the jolly old elf.

Cash will also be accepted. It can be mailed or dropped off at Murray's office in the Colonial Park Office Building, 25 Lowell St., Wilmington in the American Insurance office.

Tracy Selig (right) holds the tickets as Perool Vaidya and Christina Gemellaro draw the winners at Wilmington High School. The Student Council ran the fair to raise money for their charities.

Tax bills will be in the mail by year's end

by Capt. Larz Neilson

Humphrey J. (Skip) Moynihan, Principal Assessor of Wilmington expects that he will be mailing the tax bills of Wilmington during the last week of December. The new tax rates were approved Wednesday, December 4, in the Massachusetts State House.

Taxes for residential buildings will increase 35 cents for each thousand dollar valuation.Last year the rate was $12.83. The new rate will be $13.18 per thousand dollar valuation.

Taxes for industrial and business buildings will be $28.95 per one thousand dollars, an increase of $1.10. The rate a year ago was $27.85. The same rate applies to Personal Property.

Parking ban on

The Wilmington parking ban went into effect December 1st. Any vehicle parked on a public way between the hours of 1:00 a.m. and 6:00 a.m. is subject to a $50 fine.

Any vehicle that impedes with snow removal may be towed, and the owner is responsible for towing and storage fees. The ban ends April 1.

Third annual Town Crier Christmas decorations contest

The Town Crier will be judging Christmas decorations again this year. The winners will have photos printed in the Town Crier. Residents of Wilmington and Tewksbury are being asked to nominate their neighbors if they have displays worthy of note.

The judges will be visiting on a date yet to be determined, but potential contenders are warned that the team of judges can be influenced by the quality of the cookies offered as bribes. Last year several contenders were caught off guard and had no cookies available. Contenders will be notified in advance by mail so they can lay in an adequate supply of the very (home made scores extra points) best cookies.

Judges will also be giving contenders copies of the Town Crier Christmas Song Book and perhaps some candy canes or other treat. No prize other than the recognition gained will be given. This is all just for fun.

Good displays of Christmas decorations will also be a factor in the judging.

Call the Town Crier at 658-2346 to nominate your neighbors. The machine is always on, so call anytime, but please be sure to give a complete name and address including the town (Wilmington & Tewksbury only) because the judges tend to get lost easily.

Christmas Tree lighting Saturday

Wilmington will conduct it's annual tree lighting ceremony on Saturday. The annual event is sponsored by the Wilmington 4th of July Committee and the Wilmington Council of Churches.

Official tree lighting is at 6:30 p.m.

One of this years highlights is professional ice sculptor, Erich Fontecchio, of the Brookline Ice Company creating a spectacular Ice Castle carved out of over 900 pounds of ice. He will begin his work at 4:00 p.m. and will finish his work just in time for Sants's arrival by fire engine around 7:00 p.m. This year the Kiwanis, Lions and Rotary clubs have joined the Chamber of Commerce in bringing this gigantic ice display to Wilmington.

This years participants will include Minutemen with Lanterns, the United Methodist Church Choir, the New England Brass Band,

The Marine Corps. Toys for Wilmington Tots will be represented, and donations of toys are always welcome.

Wilmington Knights of Columbus will be providing Cookies and Hot Chocolate.

Santa will be available after the festivities for photos. A donation of $3.00 will be collected and used for the Fourth of July fireworks fund.

Recycling Update

Tewksbury residents, are advised that weekly recycling of paper may consist of only newspapers. Therefore, magazines and junk mail, cereal boxes, etc. are no longer acceptable items for recycling.

Currently, there is a glut of used paper on the market. This makes it difficult for recycling contractors to find places to take paper. They are paying places to take paper, where they were previously paid for paper. The Canelas Company has agreed to continue collecting newspapers at curbside. They in turn, may deliver only newspaper to their recycling source. This is why we must drop all other paper items from our recycling program.

We are still collecting glass, metal and plastic on alternate weeks. That has not changed.

Hopefully, the market will change again and we will be able to recycle more paper in the future. However, this will happen only when people create a demand for products made of recycled paper instead of trees.

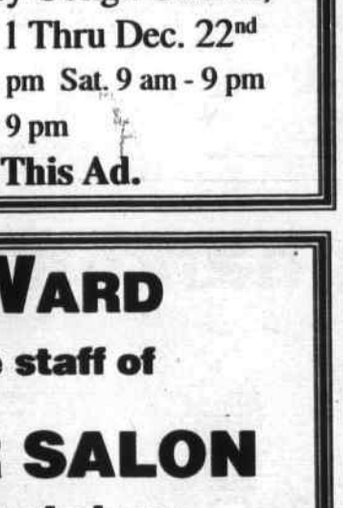

When shopping, ask stores for recycled paper products (toilet paper, paper towels, tissues, computer paper, etc.). If stores do not carry these items, ask them to. Write letters to newspapers asking them to print newspapers on recycled paper. Only when the cycle is complete, with people buying products made of recycled paper as well as recycling paper will recycling be successful.

It's YOUR Money

ACCELERATE INCOME OR DEFER?

In an ordinary year, it's generally smart to put off income until next year. Wait another month, say, and gain an extra year's use of the money until it is taxed. But if you may be subject to the alternative minimum tax (AMT), all the rules get turned around.

Under the AMT, certain itemized losses or deductions that might reduce regular taxable income are not allowed or are recomputed to be less favorable to the taxpayer. (Large capital gains, especially, trigger AMT status.) Taxable income for AMT purposes (AMTI) is computed and, after certain exemptions, is subject to a tax rate of 26 percent for the first $175,000 of AMT over the exemption, 28 percent thereafter. Exemptions of $45,000 for couples, $33,750 for singles or head of household and $22,500 for married filing separately are phased out at certain AMT levels.

It's vital to figure taxes both ways to find out if AMT status is likely. It may pay to save deductions for another year and even accelerate income into this year.

Will you be penalized by the AMT? Check it out now with the tax professionals at

Editorial

You will always remember this day, believe me

by Jamie Pote

When I was a sophomore at Wilmington High School, I can remember one day of that year that sticks out as one of the best days of my entire life. That day was February 15th and it was a Saturday. I was a member of the varsity hockey team at WHS and we had an afternoon game at Ristuccia Exposition Center. It was our last regular season game and we had to win to get into the state tournament. But there was one problem - a very tough first place Tewksbury team stood in our way.

Before the game started, I and the rest of the team were very nervous. I didn't play that much that season, but I was still nervous. I think we were nervous because we wanted to make the state tournament so badly - we wanted to be a part of the best. Anyway, we ended up beating Tewksbury, 5-2. And even though I didn't play one shift in that game, it is still one of my best days of my life because I was a part of something - I was a part of a winning team and that was special. It was a lot of fun celebrating after the game with my friends and that I will always remember.

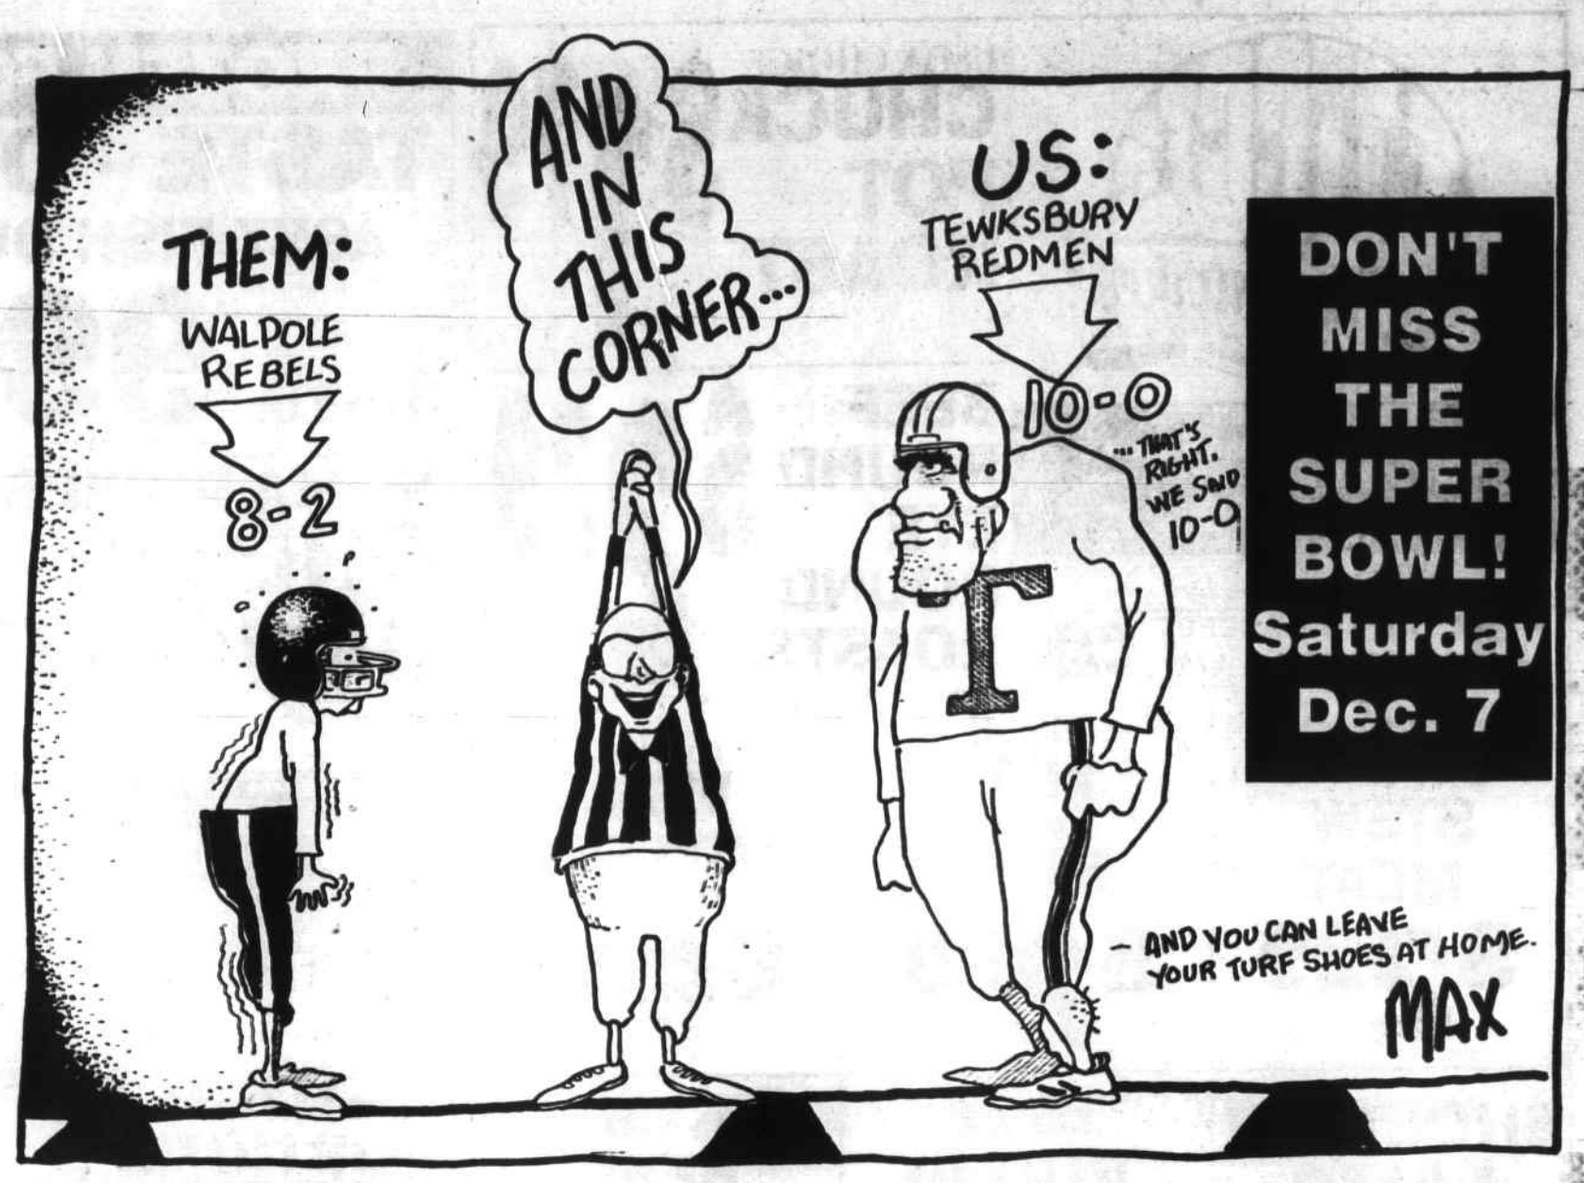

I am saying all of this because that reminded me a lot of what is going to happen this weekend. The Tewksbury High School football team will be making its fourth Super Bowl appearance and second in a row. Last year they lost to Walpole 28-14, even though they were a better team. And this year they face Walpole again.

Most of the players on this team know what it is like to be on a winning team and how great it really is. And for those who don't, it really is an undescribable feeling. Part of the winning ways is being confident and even though it sounds corny, a lot of it has to do with team chemistry. You guys should be confident because you assemble one terrific football team. And from every player I have talked to, the chemistry has been outstanding. Last year, I watched Tewksbury trail 14-0 against Walpole and still everyone was upbeat - the players and coaches as things were not going in Tewksbury's favor and that kind of sportsmanship has carried over to this season - that says it all of why this team continues to win.

My day of making it to the state tournament cannot tie the shoes of yours of going to the Superbowl - and I hope every single player on the team realizes how special this day is whether your the top player on the team, or whether you are not the top player. A few other things happened that day to make the tourney day more special for me, but that day is like a Cat trying to fight a Lion compared to this Saturday.

All I'm trying to say here is hopefully you guys will cherish Saturday. Make sure you have a lot of fun - enjoy it because it might not happen again. For me, being on another state tournament team never happened and perhaps that is why I remember that one so much. Don't forget that the entire team are your friends and it takes an entire team to make a winning team.

To the TMHS football team: good luck, have some fun, kick some tails and bring it home, boys!

DON'T MISS THE SUPER BOWL! Saturday Dec. 7

Letters to the editor

Chamber of Commerce says "Thanks"

Dear Larz:

I am writing on behalf of the entire Board of Directors to express the Chamber's sincere appreciation to AGFA Division, Bayer Corporation's for their generous donation of office furniture. This is the first time in our 35 years of operation that all the furniture in the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce office has a coordinated, professional look!

I also wish to express the Chamber's sentiments about our President, Kenneth Mastrullo. Ken is an outstanding and dedicated President. His commitment, eagerness, and willingness to help go beyond words. People say "if you want something done, ask the busiest person you know to do it." "Things get done" with Ken as our President. Thank you AGFA Division, Bayer Corporation for allowing Ken to share his valuable time with the Chamber. I personally appreciated all the guidance and help Ken gave me throughout the move.

Thank you again for your continued support of the Chamber and for the many other contributions AGFA Division, Bayer Corporation generously makes to us and the community.

Sincerely,
Wilmington
Chamber of Commerce

Tewksbury Food Pantry says "Thanks"

Dear Larz:

The spirit of giving is alive and well in Tewksbury! Once again, town residents have generously donated non-perishable food to the Tewksbury Community Pantry Inc. through several recent food drives. The board of directors of the pantry sends a heartfelt "thank you" to the following groups who collected the food that fills to overflowing the recently empty shelves:

Heath Brook School, North Street School, Tewksbury Memorial High School, Preschool Academy, Town churches, postal services "Run your Turkey Off" Race, Andover Bank.

The directors are also grateful to the many volunteers who will help sort the food and distribute it to people in need. Tewksbury can be proud of its citizens who help their neighbors fight hunger.

Jean Holmes, President

Thanks for the overwhelming support

Dear voters:

I would like to express my sincere thanks for the overwhelming vote of confidence you gave me on Election Day.

And I would also like to say thank you to each and everyone who worked on my campaign.

To the citizens of Tewksbury and Wilmington, be assured that your faith in me is greatly appreciated, and I will continue to work on your behalf with integrity and effectiveness.

King Philip's War recalled

by Capt. Larz Neilson

The "Indian Wars" of Colonial Days were a troublesome problem for the ancient Colonials. King Philip's War began in Plymouth Colony on June 24, 1675, and was the first of several.

Woburn, which was to be termed the northernmost settlement outside of Boston to the north was not directly assailed. But a number of Woburn men participated in the fighting.

Towns which were assaulted were Marlboro, Sudbury and Groton. Still Woburn was not exempt from a large part of the common burdens of that war. The proportion of the public taxes to sustain the warfare was extremely oppressive.

Over 500 pounds, local currency, were paid by Woburn because of the warfare at the time of King Philip's War.

On August 2, 1675 an order came from Edward Rawson, Secretary of the Colony, to "impress five able and sufficient horses,well furnished and fit with bridles and saddles, fitt for the service of the Country, and bring them to Capt. Davis' house in Boston at eight o'clock in the morning."

And, on December 1, 1675 while preparations were being made for the Narragansett Expedition, 13 soldiers of Woburn were impressed: John Baker. John Baldwin, Peter Bateman, John Berbeane, John Cutler, Thomas Hale, Jeremiah Hood, William Pierce, John Polly, John Preist, John Sheldon, Caleb Simonds and Zechariah Snow.

Woburn appears from the records, and from the records of the Hon. John Hull, Esq. Treasurer of the Colony in 1676 to have furnished 45 other men who voluntarily enlisted in he service or who were drafted by lot.

John Bateman, Isaac Brooks, John Brooks, William Butters,Jacob Chamberlain, Josiah Clopson (or Cloyson), John Coddington, Jonathan Crispo, Paul A Fletcher, William Green,John Kendall, Benoni McDonald, John Molooney, Richard Nevers, Abraham Parker, Thomas Parker, Joseph Peirce, Thomas Pierce Jr., William reed, Samuel Read, John Richardson,Joseph Richardson, Nathaniel Richardson, Samuel Richardson, David Roberts, John Siers, Benjamin Simonds, James Simonds, Joseph Waters (or Wallace), John Wilson Jr., Francis Wyman,Jr., and Joseph Wright.

Three other names were added to the list by the Treasurer: William Dean, Thomas Hincher (Henshaw), and Benjamin Wilson, all, presumably, well known citizens of Woburn.

On December 19, 1675 occurred the memorable battle known as the Swamp Fight,or the Narragansett Fort Fight. It was in the bounds of South Kingston, Rhode Island. Soldiers from Woburn, and a considerable proportion from other communities appear to have taken part in this bloody Wilmington residents. Butters Row is a marker, for that family.

After the Swamp Fight 44 Woburn men were each given land. William Butters was the owner of 100 acres of land in Woburn, possibly land he had owned before enlisting to fight the Indians.

But, along with the other men, 44 in all, he was presented with seven acres of land. Those lots of land were on the north side of Maple Meadow Brook, now in Wilmington. The date was February 1678.

This cannot be said to be the beginning of Butters Row, for it was in the area which is at the southerly end of what is now Chestnut Street. Butters Row,a street of a later date is in itself self explanatory.

Three hundred Indians had been captured at the Swamp Fight, and engagement. It resulted in the death of King Philip.

A name which can be noticed with regard to the Swamp Fight is William Butter, a man who had volunteered his services. He became the ancestor of many taken to Boston. Their captors talked with them,and seem to have convinced the Indians into having a "sham battle." The Indians were to fire their guns first.

This they did. Then they were captured by the white soldiers.

Six of those captured were identified as having slain white soldiers. The penalty was death - a hanging on Boston Common.

The rest were sent to Bermuda, or the Bahama Islands. It is said they never forgot.

Several instances can be added to this tale of combat between the early Indians and the Colonial Americans. One incident, involving a member of the Butters family occurred in New Hampshire.

Wilmington's last occurrence happened because a squaw was lying on the road, drunk, late at night. She was struck in the head by the hooves of a horse, ridden, it was said, but not proven, by a Harnden. The accident was very near the Woburn line,on what was then the road from Andover to Woburn, and is now called Main Street.

A stone hill was to the north of that road which, thousands of years ago was a volcano. There was a small pond nearby, known as Squaw Pond, and a ridge of rock, which was cut through about 1929 when the street was improved.

Cook Avenue today meets Main Street where a family named Harnden lived, probably Benjamin Harnden.

That squaw was killed probably early in 1707. Indians from northern New Hampshire, called Abnaki, resolved on revenge.

Deacon John Harnden of the Reading Congregational Church lived with his family in what is now North Wilmington, about 50 feet northerly of the property line of the Woburn Street School. A thousand feet northerly of his home was that of his uncle Richard, on what is today High Street.

The Abnaki had a war party in Massachusetts, and detached a few men for vengeance on the Benjamin Harnden home. Instead they went to that of John Harnden.

Deacon Harnden was in Wakefield, that night on a church mission.

At this time the site of the Deacon Harnden home is undergoing changes, new homes are being constructed.

Five Abnaki had been sent to kill the family of Benjamin Harnden, but they struck the home of Deacon John. They chopped a hole through the roof and killed Susanna Harnden and three of her children. The others hid behind a rock near Marcia Road,and eventually were rescued. One girl was thrown into a pond, but she, too was saved.

10 years ago — Tewksbury

Residents of Grasshopper Lane and Public Health Director William McMenimen were pictured as they outlined plans to locate the source of sewage seeping under the Grasshopper Lane neighborhood.

Town Clerk Liz Carey was pictured as she administered the oath of office to three members of the newly formed Town Manager Screening Committee, Jerry Selissen, Marie Sweeney and Larry Polimeno.

Elaine Paolini was pictured as a member of Kelley and Kompany Real Estate.

Millie Mulno, piano and Donna Haines, sax, were pictured as they provided musical accompaniment for the Friends of the Library Christmas party.

Anne Yonaker crafted a Canada goose and donated it to Patten Public Library to be raffled; Daniel Ewing was the lucky winner.

Top of the ol' fedora

A spirited tip of the "ol fedora" goes this week to Marie MacMullin of Loumac Road, Wilmington who, refusing to be sidelined by her more than 80 years and her painful arthritis, has crocheted numerous lap robes for patients at Wilmington Woods.

Mrs. MacMullin's project is assisted by Mary O'Rourke and Mary DeGeralamo who pick up the robes at the MacMullin home and deliver them to the nursing center.

And to those who produce the bulletin for the Congregational Church of Tewksbury for adding humor to that publication:

"The optimist says, 'My cup runneth over, what a blessing.' The pessimist says, 'My cup runneth over,what a mess."

Not sure what to give that special friend or relative this holiday season?

A composting bin may be the perfect gift. You may choose from two different models. "The Brave New Composter" is adjustable and will handle from 12 to 24 cubic feet of yard and food waste. The "Earth Machine" is not adjustable but handles up to 11 cubic feet of yard or food waste. Both units are made from recycled plastic.

Many types of food scraps which are usually tossed into the trash and yard waste which is bagged for collection or taken to the recycling center can be composted in the backyard In six to nine months, with periodic turning and watering, these materials will be transformed into a rich humus. "Black gold" as it is sometimes referred to can be used to enhance the health of lawns, gardens and shrubs.

Plus these compost bins, which sell for between $50 and $90 in stores, are available from the Town of Wilmington for only $18. You may use cash or a personal check made payable to the Town of Wilmington. Proceeds from the sale of compost bins are earmarked for the purchase of more compost bins.

Contact the Public Buildings Office at 508-658-3017 to purchase an "Earth Machine" or contact the Public Works Office at 508-658-4481 to purchase "The Brave New Composter." Both offices are available to take your call from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Give your friend or relative a unique gift that will enrich their lawn or garden and a gift that is environmentally friendly. Give a compost bin.

Tewksbury schools celebrated Thanksgiving

Christine L. McGrath, Ph.D.
Superintendent of Schools

Thanksgiving is a time for remembering those people and reflecting on those events which have made a difference in our own life or in the lives of those around us. I would like to acknowledge some of those people and a few of those events which have rendered a positive influence in the Tewksbury Public Schools over the past year.

To the faculty, staff and administration of the John W. Wynn Middle School for their execution of a perfect evacuation of the school during the fire on February 29, 1996.

The 1995 and 1996 Redmen Football Teams for earning the right to represent the school district at the 1995 and 1996 Superbowls and for demonstrating the true meaning of Tewksbury Pride.

The Heath Brook School Community for organizing their annual food drive and the Family Literacy Night.

The Middle School Faculty for developing many high quality after school programs to meet the after school needs of our adolescent population and to the Middle School PAC for supporting those efforts.

AMERICAN GUTTER CLEANING CO.

(508) 851-6045

Joe and Carol Rocha say, "It's time to clean your gutters"... and American Gutter is ready!

Family values are important to you. You make decisions based on how they will affect your loved ones. It follows that you would want your home improvements done by a business that applies the same family values in everything they do.

American Gutter Cleaning Co. is that kind of family run company. Joe Rocha established the American Gutter Cleaning Co over 10 years ago. He and his wife, Carol, run the company, along with their highly trained, reliable, and fully insured staff.

Ir gutters aren't cleaned at least once or twice a year, you could be increasing the chance of interior water damage to your home. It's important to have your gutters cleaned and inspected for minor damage before the New England snow and ice arrive, and also in the spring after the maples and other trees have dropped their flowers or any remaining leaves.

If you're like most people and don't look forward to climbing up a ladder to do the job yourself, let American Gutter help you keep that ladder in the shed where it belongs. Their service is prompt, and their prices are reasonable; an average house, with aluminum gutters, is $35-$75. If you purchase a Gutter Cleaning Contract, which includes two cleanings per year, you'll enjoy a 10% discount and receive a free gutter inspection. And now, in addition to cleanings, American Gutter will install your new gutters. If you're planning to install 100 ft or more of new gutters, take advantage of their special $50 discount.

To make arrangements and become a valued customer of the American Gutter Cleaning Co., call (508) 851-6045 today! Don't you think it's well worth it?

Holiday help

The holiday season is upon us! The following are some ways the library can help you enjoy and prepare for the holidays.

Holiday books

The Children's Department has an assortment of Hanukah and Christmas books on display. The titles range from new picture books like Marissa Moss' The Ugly Mennorah to classic works like The Best Christmas Pageant Ever by Barbara Robinson. The beautiful illustrations in many of the picture books bring to life holiday scenes and traditions.

Holiday party

On Wednesday, December 11, the Children's Department will deck the halls with its annual Preschool Holiday Celebration. All non-school age children, accompanied by an adult, are welcome to participate in an hour extravaganza of songs, games, and refreshments. No registration is required. The fun begins at 10:30 a.m. Cookie donations are most welcome!

Gift ideas

For Christmas gift ideas, the Eastern Massachusetts Regional Library System has compiled a book list of age appropriate books for children. Selections are annotated with prices. This handout is available in the Children's Department.

Decorations

The library has numerous holiday craft books to help decorate your house. A recent addition to the collection is Wreath Magic: 86 Magnificent Wreaths, Garlands & Swags to Make by Leslie Dierks.

Holiday cooking

From Christmas cookies to hors d'oeuvres, the library's cookbook collection has the recipes you need for holiday entertaining. Four Star Desserts by Emily Luchetti, a new cookbook, includes many recipes for delectable desserts.

Holiday traditions

Many of the library's holiday books explain the traditions of history of Christmas, Hanukkah, and Kwanzaa. Taking time to read these can help make our holiday celebrations more meaningful.

Gifts to the library

Monetary donations to the library can be made for the purpose of purchasing a book "in honor of" someone in lieu of a gift. The librarian selects a special new book in which a book plate is placed noting the name of the person in whose "honor" the book was purchased.

Time to relax

Relieve the stress of holiday shopping, cooking, gift wrapping and house cleaning by taking time to relax and read your favorite author's newest book which you borrowed from the library.

New books in the library

Adult fiction: The Fallen Man by Tony Hillerman, Imaginings of Sand by Andre Brink, Runemaker by Tiina Nunnally, First Contact by J.M. Dillard, A Magical Christmas by Heather Graham, This Year it Will be Different by Maeve Binchy.

Adult fiction: Wreath Magic by Leslie Dierks, My Story by Sarah, the Duchess of York, The consumer's Guide to Homeopathy by Dana Ullman, The Well Filled Microwave Cookbook by Victoria Wise and Susanna Hoffman, Remember Me; Women and their Friendship Quilts by Linda Otto Lipsett, The Dog with a Chip in his Neck by Adrei Codrescu.

Children's picture books: Only a Star by margery Facklam, Dreamland by Roni Schotter, The Little Cat and the Greedy Old Woman by Joan Rankin, Ten Little Animals by Laura Jane Coats, One Quiet Morning by Helena Clare, Hush! by Minfong Ho.

Burlington resident Eric Gingras is listed (Wednesday) in guarded condition at Boston City Hospital after his vehicle collided with a tree on Burlington Avenue last Wednesday evening. Mr. Gingras was transported by Medflight Helicopter after being removed from the vehicle by Wilmington Firefighters using the "Jaws of Life". (photo by Robert S. Zampell)

Holiday music

The library's new compact disc collection includes some favorite Christmas Carols which can be found on Burl Ives Christmas Album, Judy Collins Come Rejoice; A Judy Collins Christmas, and The Little Drummer boy; Christmas Favorites by the World Renowned Vienna Boys Choir. Sharon Ruetenik, Children's Librarian, recommends Stan Ransom's North Country Christmas for family listening. Variations of traditional Christmas songs reflect the regions of northeastern New York state, Lake Champlain and Vermont on this children's cassette tape.

Stretch

Winchester Hospital offers a light workout program for moms and their new babies that emphasizes stretching and toning. New moms are able to get together with others after the birth of their babies and share parenting concerns and experiences.

The program is being held Fridays from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. beginning Dec. 6-27 in the Community Education Room located inside Baldwin Park II at 7 Alfred St., Woburn. Call 617-756-4700 to register or for more information.

Wilmington senior topics

Fair Saturday

The Senior Citizen Holiday Fair will be held Saturday, December 7. The only way it can be a success is if we all attend and take a relative or friend along. We know several other fairs are being held the same day, but that should not deter us from coming to our own Fair. All involved have worked many months for the only purpose but to make it the best fair in town. From what I see, it will be. Take along enough money, as you will see many articles that will be the Christmas gift you have been looking for.

Nutrition class

The first nutrition class of December will be held Tuesday, December 10. Weighins will begin at 9:30 a.m. and the class starts promptly at 10. If you prefer not to weigh in before the class, that is your choice. With the Christmas holidays only three weeks away, it gives us only a short time to prepare what foods can be a determent to our health, as we plan to attend many holiday parties.

Jean Webster, nutrition instructor is working very hard to make us aware of foods that are good for us and those foods that we should shy away from. We all want to start the New Year healthier than last year. That can be accomplished by joining Jean's class to learn, from a senior who can answer your questions and if she is not quite sure, she will research until she finds the answer for you.

We continually stress how important this class is for both men and women. Both are equal candidates for heart attacks and strokes, by eating the wrong foods. You will be surprised after joining this nutrition support class how it is to ward off these illness simply by eating a healthy diet.

Try it for a few classes, men and women I am sure you will be glad you did. As a nurse for many years Jean has seen many men with heart problems that could have been prevented if they had learned how to eat correctly.

Christmas sing-a-long

Wednesday, December 11, the Christmas Sing-a-long will be held in the function room. You can take your lunch and eat it in the kitchen while socializing with other seniors. After lunch all will go to the function room to raise your voices singing the songs of Christmas accompanied by Dot Phillips at the piano. Ernie Seitz will join Dot on some songs with his harmonica. This sing-a-long is a wonderful way to get into the spirit of Christmas.

Catered holiday dinners

On December 18, 100 catered holiday dinners will be delivered to senior citizens. Seniors who do not get out of the house due to illness, disability or advanced age, only for medical appointments. If you would like to help make the holidays special for these seniors by delivering a few of the meals, please let me know.It will take about two hours of your time. Time very much appreciated by the recipients.

Be careful

With the approach of the holidays the Attorney General wants us to be aware of the dangers about us during this season as we go about our holiday shopping. He says there are many unscrupulous individuals who thrive on stealing and scamming for a living. For your protection, when shopping in stores, especially at Malls, men should not carry their wallets in back pockets and women should not carry pocketbooks dangling from their arms or over the shoulder.

Pickpockets can have the contents in their hands in a matter of seconds. By the end of the day or evening, depending on the time you are shopping, one of these unscrupulous individuals will have your identity, money and credit cards in their possession.

There are other scams perpetrated against the elderly by these individuals we should be aware of. This time of the year most of us feel very sorry for those in need. It is not uncommon for a person to come to the door asking for a donation to a charitable organization that helps the needy during the holidays. When checked out, the organization does not exist. You have thrown away your money. To avoid being financially exploited by one of these men or women, do not open the door to anyone. If the person is asking for a donation, tell them to leave the request in the mail box. In most cases the person will leave. Always check with the Attorney General's office before giving to any charitable organization, 617-727-2200.

Other tips

Other tips from the Attorney General to be aware of: Never give credit card numbers over the telephone. He warns us when shopping at malls try to park close to the building in a lighted area. When leaving the mall make sure there are other people around when you go to your car, especially if it is dark. At any time of the year we cannot be too careful. Christmas shopping this year can be very enjoyable if we learn to protect ourselves.

Epic Brass Concert

Ellen Kline from the Woburn Street School would like about 20 seniors to attend a concert program by the Epic Brass Quintet on December 10 from 9 to 10 a.m. If interested call Ellen at 658-6913.

Terrific Turkey game ends terrific season

by Jamie Pote

With six minutes and change left on the scoreboard, it seemed as if the inevitable was about to happen. Sean Kerrigan's 43-yard touchdown run increased the Cats lead to 14-3 in what was already a crazy, back-and-forth Turkey Classic.

But, what seemed like a major upset in the making, quickly turned into a Super Bowl Bound team showing why they were going to the Big Dance. In less than a three minute span, Tewksbury scored two touchdowns to overcome the excellent performance by the Cats, winning 17-14, on a cold, and heartaching Thanksgiving Morning, in the 61st Meeting between the two rivals.

Wilmington's defense truly showed that they were powerful in this game, holding the Red to just a field goal through the first three quarters plus. However, two plays after Kerrigan's touchdown, Matt Petros took the snap in Tewksbury's next series. And on what looks like "a crazy, who has it call," Petros took the ball through the middle, untouched, on a 58-yard touchdown run on the single-wing play call.

"[On that play] I play quarterback and we do a bunch of fakes and they tell me who to hand-off to," Petros described. "I faked to everyone and went up the middle - I was so wide-open, no one touched me."

Tewksbury head coach Bob Aylward had nothing but great things to say about a hard working Wilmington squad.

"Our defense is what won us the game - we really just had that one big run," Aylward said. Wilmington seemed to adjust very well to our formations, but [Petros' touchdown] they had a little trouble with that one.

"I'm very grateful, there staff and there kids did a great job," Aylward continued. "Jamie Campbell [Aylward paused as he started to become very emotional] played superb. I coached his father [Leo Campbell] and boy would that guy be so proud of that player. Wilmington has a lot of good players and all of them played very well today."

Two plays thereafter, a Wilmington fumble at their own 36 yard line, allowed Tim Lavoie to score his 20th touchdown of the season.

Wilmington had the ball with 3:12 left to play trailing 17-14, but a halfback option call that saw Billy Harrison toss a 26-yard pass was intercepted by Mike Smith at the Tewksbury 37. Smith made a nice play as the pass was a little bit underthrown to a wide-open Dick Gillis. That was the third Wilmington turnover in the game.

Anyway one looks at it, Wilmington proved that there were indeed a great football team and that they could compete with the Merrimack Valley Conference's top team. With the loss, Wilmington ended its fantastic season at 9-2, overall.

Wilmington's defense took the edge in the first half as Mike O'Toole recovered a fumbled snap on Tewksbury's first series at the Wilmington 12-yard line. But, Tewksbury's defense returned the favor as Justin Hamilton picked off a Tim Gillis (2-3, 20 yards, 1 Int.) pass on fourth-and-three at the Red 38 and he returned it to the Wilmington 25.

Hamilton, was a huge difference in this game as his interception set-up a Helda Rosa 32-yard field goal and his fumble recovery which was taken in for a 76-yard touchdown return on Wilmington's next series, was called back due to an illegal block.

With a 7-3 lead at halftime, Wilmington went three-and-out in its first series and so did Tewksbury at the start of the second half. Wilmington, starting from the Tewksbury 34 from a short punt, gained 9 yards on their first play on a pitch to Sean Kerrigan (14 carries, 96 yards).

After an incomplete pass, Kerrigan, Harrison and Kerrigan again, picked up two yards in each of those carries and Wilmington was looking at a third-and-six situation at the Tewksbury 19. A 6-yard loss on a pass to Harrison set-up a huge fourth down call, but quarterback Tim Gillis slipped on the wet grass and Tewksbury took over on downs.

And that, fourth down conversions, were the biggest difference in the game. Wilmington was 0-3 and of those three tries, they resulted in an interception, the Tim Gillis slip and a Dick Gillis (7 carries, 27 yards) carry that was short by one-yard at the Tewksbury 40-yard line at the start of the third quarter. One yard in three fourth down plays really hurt.

Anyway, after Gillis slipped to turn the ball over, Wilmington again held Tewksbury to a three-and-out series and Wilmington took over at the Tewksbury 48. Four plays later, Wilmington turned the ball over again on a fourth down call as Dick Gillis was short and Tewksbury took over at their own 39.

Tim Gillis, who played a superb defense game as a cornerback, tipped a Paul Davoren pass on a fourth down call by Tewksbury. Two plays later, Kerrigan made it 14-3, but two Tewksbury touchdowns with 6:05 left to play put Tewksbury over the edge as they have now won the last six meetings.

Letters to the editor

Dear Jamie:

I just wanted to take a few minutes of your busy day to thank you for all your support last season. You have really helped put wrestling on the Wilmington map. I have had more people call me regarding the sport and showing more and more interest. You can't begin to imagine how much your support means to me and the entire wrestling team. It all a starts back to being in a sport that people don't even know about or cringe at the thought of.

Then when you don't get the chance to see your accomplishments and hard work in the paper it makes the season very long. This also makes the season lack the extrincsic rewards that you seek to achieve when your out on the mat wrestling with all your heart for your family, friends, school and community. Your coverage has been informative and entertaining for the entire community.

Again, thank you for your continued support and coverage of the Wildcat wrestling team.

Yours in Wrestling,
Michael Pimental

Mite A's lose tough one to Agawam

On Friday, Nov. 29, the Wilmington Wildcats Mite A youth hockey team were brought back down to earth as Agawam scored four unanswered goals and hung on 4-2.

For the first two periods it seemed Agawam digested its Thanksgiving meal first constantly beating our players to the puck as the blue and white dug themselves into a 4-0 hole. Whatever coaches McMahon, Shultes and Fay said on the bench, our guys tried to respond at the 4:50 mark. Scott Dunnett, skating hard toward the net picked up a loose puck and went far side unassisted.

The start of the third period saw great defense by Albert Fiorenza and Billy Shultes protecting goalie Mike Fay (who kept this game close) was nothing short of spectacular. George (goal a game) Dighton made this a game, as he wrapped a loose puck around the net to make it 4-0, with an assist going to Ray Bennett.

Scott Sferrazza, Justin Roberts, Jaison Buckley and Scott Dunnett skated hard while Michael McMahon tried to make something happen with a couple of rushes. David Griffen, Warren Fitzpatrick, Ray Gravallesse and Jason Buckley showed no signs of giving up. Hockey must be played at full hilt from the opening faceoff to the final buzzer. Although they started slowly these guys showed no matter what the score they will never give up.

What a difference a day makes!

With the taste of defeat in their mouths from the day before, our guys rebounded with a hard fought victory over Winchester, 2-1.

Starting goalie Mike Fay was nothing short of spectacular turning away shots and diving on loose pucks. Scott Dunnett tallied twice to lead Wilmington offense. Clearly a defensive battle Mike McMahon, Billy Shultes, Albert Fiorenza, Ray Bennett and Steve Peterson held down the fort while our big guns, George Dighton, Davd Griffin, Jason Buckley, Warren Fitzpatrick tried to increase the score. Scott Sferrazza, Justin Roberts, Ray Gravallese never stopped digging and bothered the Winchester forwards in the neutral zone. This was a great win for the blue and white and a great game to watch as well.

Mite D's take on NH East

N.H. East 8 Wilmington 0

The Wilmington Mite D youth hockey team took to the ice the morning after Turkey Day. The competition was N.H. East II.

Missing from the lineup was Derek Hanson and Maria Tucker.

Kevin Fitzpatrick suited up in nets. It was a hard fought game with the Cats putting pressure on. Michael Emery had a breakaway that went wide of the net but almost shattered the boards and forwards Ryan Loring, Joey Sheehan, Jarred Mitrano, Michael Pickett and Mark Walsh worked hard.

The defense of Sean Dighton, Zach Ciampa and Thomas Nellson was fierce and the game was close going into the third with N.H. East up 3-0.

Kevin Fitzpatrick was super in nets making some saves that awed the fans. With five minutes left the Cats threw caution to the wind and crashed N.H.'s net play after play hoping to pop one in. This left a lot of opportunities for N.H. at the other end which they capitalized on. The Mite D's played a tough game and they should be proud.

Tewksbury Pee Wee III's

The Tewksbury Pee Wee III youth hockey team played neighboring Andover in the morning of November 23. Goalies Eric McDermott and Tim Dyons with strong support from defensive team Erin Sweet and Billy Ward kept the game scoreless for the first period.

Late in period two Andover scored the first goal of the game. Doug Patten received a pass from Brian Kee and was able to score Tewksbury's first goal late in the third period; quickly Andover stepped ahead again scoring its second goal. With only moments left in the game Joseph Clark set Danny Sousa up for the tieing goal. Final score, 2-2.

Later the same day Tewksbury played Newburyport. The offense including Danny MacDaren put a lot of pressure on, within the first minute Brian McGrath was assisted by Danny Sousa for the first goal.

In the second period, Brian Bastien with the help of Doug Patten scored goal two. Goalie Eric McDermott passed to Steve Chartier who took it all the way for goal three. Despite hard work by defensemen Jeff Fieremonte and Scott O'Neill, Newburyport was able to take advantage of a power play situation and score two goals in the third period. Final score, 3-2.

SAVE ON AUTO INSURANCE

QUESTION: How can I save money on auto insurance rates?

ANSWER: If you've been free from serious traffic violations for three years you may qualify for a safe driving discount. Have the young drivers in your household passed an approved driver education course? That may help.

Do you have separate auto policies for each car? Put them on the same policy and lower your total premium cost. If you have an older car with low resale value, you may want to drop the collision coverage.

Deductibles can be another money saver. The higher the deductible the lower the premium

Tewksbury Squirt III's highlights

Before going through the recent highlights of the Tewksbury Squirt III youth hockey team, it has to be known that the writeup of the Nov. 16, 1996 Squirt III's defeat of the Haverhill II team listed Billy LaVigne as the second goal maker. This was an error the credit for the second goal belongs to Derek Beatrice with an assist from Donny Swansburg. Sorry for the confusion; this sets the record straight.

Anyway, the Squirt III's met Reading III at the Merrimack Valley Forum on Nov. 23. Both teams started fast and skated hard. Shots fired by both teams were foiled by superb goal tending on both ends of the ice. Goalie Ryan Harris showed his stuff win an awesome glove save about halfway through the first period, the Tewksbury fans cheered. With two and one half minutes on the clock Reading put the first score on the board, sending home a rebound shot.

With four seconds left, Harris took a stick save and swept it to the corner and the first ends tied 1-1. Early in the second period Reading found an open spot and scored its second goal. Two minutes Iain Birrell got a breakaway, but barely got a piece of it as the Reading defense attacked. The puck dribbled up the ice and right through the legs of the Reading netminder to tie it up 2-2.

Good defensive play by Mike Albano, David Balfour and Danny Jones kept Reading at bay. With 35 seconds on the clock the Redmen set up the next score. Iain Birell passed cross ice to Robby Harris, Bobby Fitzpatrick skates center, takes the pass from Robby and netted another one for the III's. Reading makes a final attempt to score on a breakaway, but a poke check from goalie Andrew Bochart broke up the play as the last two seconds of the period ticked away.

The final period of the game started off with a great play by the Redmen. At the faceoff, Todd Richards got control and passed to derek Beatrice. He skated it into the Reading zone, beat the defense and then the goalie. The III's were up 4-2. Both teams stepped up the pace and their offense with shots by Ryan Dunlevy and Todd Richards.

Reading continued to press and scored on a rebound shot with five and a half mintues to gol. Two minutes later Reading got a three man breakaway but Bochart shut them down at the Redmen net.

With 1:30 left on the clock, Derek Beatrice got his second goal of the game on a pass from Bobby Fitzpatrick. Then Mike Albano tried a scoring drive but the play is offsides. Reading gets the puck at the faceoff, skates in the Tewksbury zone and fired it, a pad save by Bochart at the buzzer. The III's win this Valley League game 5-3.

On Nov. 24, Nashua II took on the Tewksbury squirt III's at the Janus Rink. This was a great game to watch as both teams skated hard and played hard.

The action started off fast in period one and Nashua was the first to score one minute into the first. The battle continued and matching penalties for roughing with three minutes to go were handed out. With just under two minutes left Iain Birrell found the Nashua net with assists from Mike Albano and Bobby Fitzpatrick.

The first ended tied one apiece. The first half of the second period was scoreless and both the Nashua goaltender and Tewksbury's Andrew Bochart played great. With 5:18 on the clock Derek Beatrice set up a perfect pass to Donny Swansburg who beat the Nashua goalie high on the glove side to put the III's up by one.

One minute later Tewksbury got its second penalty of the game for an elbow then with only seconds left on the clock a double penalty was assessed for roughing and slashing. The second period ended with the Redmen up 2-1.

The third period started with a Nashua scoring drive in the first two minutes to tie it up 2-2. This was followed by two simultaneous Nashua penalties for cross checking and slashing. The III's press hard on this five on three power play but they couldn't get one past this Nashua goalie.

With less than half the period to play the Nashua offense found a hole and scored. Nashua took the lead 3-2.

The contest ensued and both teams battled for control of the puck. In the final minute, it was like watching an instant replay of the previouys Redmen goal. Derek Beatrice fed Donny swansburg who fired one high and home for the goal to tie the game.

Good solid offense by Billy LaVigne, Danny Jones, Robby Harris, Ryan Dunlevy and Todd Richards with strong defense by Matt Girard, David Balfour and Matt Porcaro this game. Both goaltenders Ryan Harris and Andrew Bochart played strong and steady. The Redmen tied Nashua in this Dual State game 3-3.

Wilmington Mite C's

The Wilmington Mite C youth hockey team suffered a tough 3-2 loss last week to Newburyport. The Cats dominated the game but could not put the puck in the net as forwards Andrew Fish, Rich LaVita and Dan Metcalf put many shots on net.

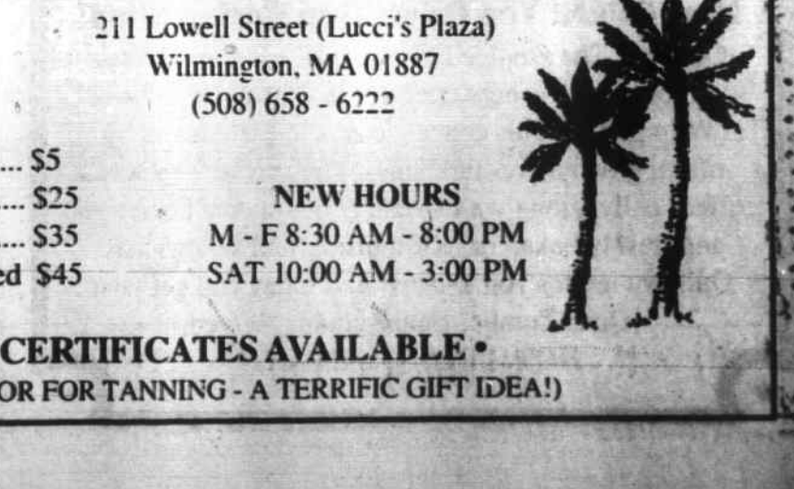

With Ralph Newhouse in goal and defense of Derek Griffin, Eric DiDomenico and Jim Murray all played very well the play of the game was by brad Fraser as he dove across the goal mouth and batted a punch out just before it went in for a Newburyport goal.

The Cats first goal came on a nice pass play by brian Garret to Kyle Abell who sent Derek DeRosa in to score the first Wilmington goal. At the start of the third period down 3-1, Vin See took the punch in his own end passed to Dan Silva who made a great pass to Shayne Pellerin for the second goal.

The Wilmington team pulled the goalie with 50 seconds left in the game and had numerous scoring chances only to hit the post or shot into the goalie for a save. This was a game the Cats should have won because they played so well.

Wilmington Squirt B's

The Wilmington Squirt B youth hockey team extended its winning streak to three in a row with two nice wins over the Thanksgiving weekend. The Wildcats seemed to enjoy their holiday time away from school, defeating North Andover 3-1 and Lexington/Bedford 5-2.

Friday afternoon's game with North Andover was a tough defensive game with no scoring until three was only 1:47 left in the second period when North Andover notched a goal to go up 1-0. But this goal only spurred on Wilmington's defensive unit; Joey Pino, Jimmy Ftizpatrick, Edzo Tucker, Eddie Lopez and Richie Buckley.

The Cat defenders continually stymied the opposition, helping out net minders Matt David and Sean Smith, and North Andover wouldn't score again.

On the offensive side, Wilmington center Bobby Sinopoli tied the game with 3:47 to play in the third period after a nice feed from Jay Surianello and Mike O'Connor.

The Wildcats then came right back to score off of a post goal faceoff. Center Steve Emery won the draw, shoveled it ahead to Eric Ollila who streaked in with Bryant Buck. Ollila fired a shot which bounced off the goalie's chest, hit the crossbar and dropped in the crease where an alert Bryant Buck poked it in for his first goal of the year. Ollila later scooped up a pass from Joey Pino and added an empty netter with 42 seconds left to ice the game, with the final score 3-1.

Sunday morning the team headed to Tulley Forum, the home of the UMass,Lowell Riverhawks for a meeting with Lexington/Bedford. Again the two teams were fairly well matched, but Wilmington scored first and never looked back.

This first goal was scored by Bobby Sinopoli with assists going to Jay Surianello and Jimmy Fitzpatrick. Only 45 seconds later center Steve Emery scored his first goal of the season with some heads-up play knocking in a loose puck in the crease past Lexington's goalie, with assists to Eric Ollila and Bryant Buck.

Halfway through the second stanza winger Jay Surianello sent Bobby Sinopoli in alone where he snapped off a smart blocker side wrist shot into the twine to put Wilmington ahead 3-0. Four minutes later it was again good passing from Bryant Buck to Steve Emery to Eric Ollila who slapped it into make it 4-0 at the end of two periods.

Wilmington's defense kept the pressure on with some super back checking by Edzo Tucker, Joey Pino, Richie Buckley, Eddie Lopez and Jimmy Fitzpatrick. These guys helped out goalie Dean Smith who also played a super game with some nice glove saves.

Lexington came back in the beginning of the third to score two unanswered goals, but the Cats were in control. With a minute and a half left Eric Ollila took a pass from Eddie Lopez, deked around the lone defenseman and slipped a slick wrister past the Lexington goalie to set up the final score of 5-2.

The Squirt B's are in action again Sunday, December 8, 4:50 p.m. in their home rink,the Ristuccia Exposition Arena where they will take on Woburn - Go Wildcats!!

Wilmington Mite B's in top form

The Wilmington Mite B youth hockey team picked up two wins over this past weekend. The first win came in a Valley League match-up against Saugus, 9-3, a team the Cats had already lost to in the parity round.

Saugus got on the board first when a Saugus player was finally able to get the puck in the net on a third rebound. The first period was played in the neutral zone, until Keith Irwin found Danny Tobin streaking up the right side, who then made a nice pass to David Rizzo. Rizzo then powered the puck past the Saugus netminder to close the period at 1-1.

Wilmington picked up right where they left off in the first with Irwin and Tobin passing it off to Rizzo only to miss, banging off the far post. Tobin took the puck on the next face-off, circled in front of the net, to notch his first of the game.

Saugus then went on the power play, but defensemen Chris Stafford and Eric Svensson helped kill the penalty off successfully. Dave Rizzo would get his second goal with a lot of hard work along the boards as he shot it by the goalie. Irwin picked up the next goal as he shot in a Mike Earls rebound. The final goal of the period was a great individual effort by Tobin as he broke up the play at the Saugus blueline then he stickhandled around one defender, used his feet to get by another and then he shot it in to make it, 5-1.

In the third period, Rizzo and Tobin combined again as Tobin picked up the hat trick on a nice play to keep the puck in the zone by Robby MacKinnon. Both teams exchanged goals with Saugus picking up one through a screen and Wilmington came back with a Mike Earls tally from Dana Steenbruggen.

Saugus then went on a power play and this time they were able to pick up a goal on the man advantage. That would be the last goal that Wilmington goalie Shane Foley would allow as he saved his best stuff for last.

With five minutes left to play, Saugus was awarded a penalty shot. And as the skater came in, Foley met with him at the top of the crease and he knocked the puck away with his glove which put an end to any kind of comeback. Tobin added another goal off a Steven Stokes pass and Nicholis Yeomelakis shot in a Tobin rebound to end the game, 9-3.

Wilmington 9 Nashoba 1

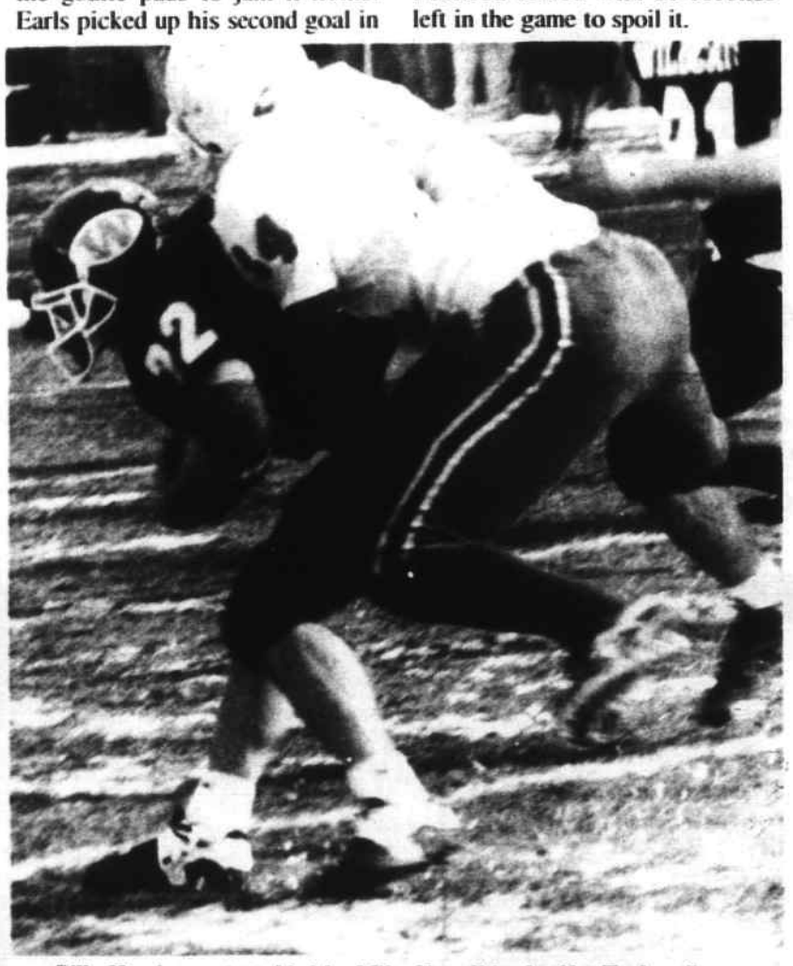

The Mite B's second win came in the Dual State League as they beat Nashoba by a score of 9-1. Shane Foley got the scoring started in this one on a pass from the corner by Steven Stokes.

Later in the period, with one minute left, Mike Earls stickhandled the puck past two defenders hitting in his own rebound.

The second period saw more offense from Wilmington as Earls feed Derek Flodin for a goal. Then on the next face-off he then feed Eric Svensson for a goal. Flodin picked up another as he dug the puck out from underneath the goalie pads to jam it home. Earls picked up his second goal in the closing minute of the second period.

The third period was all Wilmington. At the two minute mark, David Rizzo went top shelf stick side to beat the goalie with assists going to Robby MacKinnon and Derek Sullivan. MacKinnon would send in linemate Nicholis Yeomelakis for a goal and on the same shift, MacKinnon slammed home a rebound to make the score 9-0.

Good defense by Keith Irwin, Chris Stafford, Shayne Pellerin, Brad Fraser and Danny Tobin to help Dana Steenbruggen who almost turned in a shutout, but Nashoba scored with 20 seconds left in the game to spoil it.

To the voters of Wilmington, Precinct 3:

The election for State Representitive is over. Many of you voted as the best person to aggressively pursue your concerns at the state level. Unfortunately, it wasn't enough, and consequently, I will not be your new representitive.

However, in meeting with many of you during the campaign, one issue seemed to stand out above all others, and that was the feeling of alienation that plagues Wilmington voters.

Time and time again, I heard people lament that they only see their representative during election time! Only time will tell if that trend will continue, but I will certainly be sensitive to that criticism as I prepare to gain your confidence in 1998

Thank you for your trust, and please feel comfortable to call me at my home (617) 272 - 0464, if you think I can assist you with any problem in the district

Sincerely

INVESTING IN YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD

Some neighborhoods have the reputation of being terrific places to live and the difference is often the investment that people make in their community. These neighborhoods embody a community spirit that reflects the pride of the people who live there. In addition to the financial investment the residents have in their property, they also invest their time by participating in local affairs.

How can you become active in your community? You can participate in your neighborhood association by volunteering to serve on committees, and you can keep abreast of issues that could impact your area by testifying at hearings or writing letters to local government officials. There may be ways that you can help your neighbors if they are having a hard time with a serious illness or job loss. If your children are grown, you can make a tremendous difference by doing volunteer work in after-school tutoring programs. When some people begin to get involved in making a difference in their neighborhood, others soon follow.

Outdoors Column

The Greater Outdoors

by Ed Larkin

Like many of you, I spent the better part of my days forging out a living. Up and out we move to the grind in an almost endless flow. I always find a day doing something outdoors makes up for a week of working. It is the time spent participating, observing, or studying the outdoors that makes the conformity of work seem bearable.

Henry David Thoreau wrote in 1848, (from, The Maine Woods, Ktaadn) "Talk of mysteries! Think of our life in nature - daily to be shown matter, to come in contact with it - rocks, trees, wind on our cheeks! The solid earth! The actual world! The common sense! Contact! Contact! Who are we? Where are we?"

It is unreal for me or most of us to throw all to the wind and convene full-time with nature. To be quite honest with you, I like my technology (even Thoreau went into Concord for needed supplies). All the wonderful items that make our life so much easier. Although, these items come with a price, and some items cost much more than others. For example, we pay a premium to drive our cars and heat our homes. Then we pay for the destruction of our environment in terms of clean air and clean water from the use of these energies. That is the true cost of convenience.

So, I search for a balance between the four walls and the four seasons. Anything outdoors interests me, hiking, fishing, and even yard work. The important thing is to remove myself from today's traditional forms of recreation, sitting in front of the tube, going to the mall, or talking on the phone. Pair that bit of balance with some day to day common sense, such as, recycling a little more, walking a little more, donating a little time to the community, and I believe, we have moved forward with little effort.

Since time is the one resource we cannot hold in the bank, I plan a piece of my day to include something outdoor related. For example, a walk or reading up on the latest outdoor gear. If you do not experience outdoor activities in some capacity, my first question is "why"? My second concern is, please do not create an opinion on outdoor pursuits if you do not spend time in the outdoors. Watching the Discovery Channel or Wild Nature on TV does not count as an outdoor experience!

As Thoreau suggests in his writing, take the opportunity and examine your place and your time by returning to the outdoors. My goal is to bring the many aspects of outdoor aventures to you. I enjoy hunting and fishing with a passion. But I understand if I limited myself to just those two activities, I would miss the chance to learn or see something from a fresh perspective. Not everyone enjoys the same outdoor pursuits. In an effort to cover the many areas of outdoor recreation, I am changing the name of this column to "The Greater Outdoors". I hope you will write me at the Town Crier and let me know about your outdoor experiences. Anything outdoors I would enjoy reviewing. Send your photos and some details and I will certainly include your adventures in my column. If you belong to a sporting club or outdoor organization, I will also include your listing in "Clip & Save ".

Address your letters to Ed Larkin, Town Crier , P.O. Box 939, Wilmington, MA 01887.

First Aid for the Hoand Trail The outdoors offers a wide variety of opportunities. When you hike, you fill your pack with all your basic needs. Equipment needs are determined by the type of trip and length of the trip. While packing, always include a First Aid kit that meets the needs of the adventure. It is one thing to have a First Aid kit; it is another to now how to use it. If an emergency arises, you probably will not have time for on-the-job training. Learning basic First Aid and putting it into practice at home is the foundation to handling an emergency in the field.

The Red Cross offers a range of courses, from basic First Aid to infant CPR. Every Adult should know CPR and every parent should have an understanding of infant CPR. Preparation is the watch word. Take the time to learn and practice your techniques. If you wish to expand your knowledge of wilderness First Aid, the Appalachian Mountain club offers an excellent series of wilderness First Aid classes.

Basic First Aid and CPR courses will only cost you a few dollars and can be learned in a few evenings. Design First Aid kits to the activity. Make up a day kit, weekend kit, and family kit for home. The following items should be included in your bas ic First Aid kit: "* One elastic - roll bandage * Aspirin or ibuprofen * Adhesive tape * Alcohol swabs * Antacid * Antihistamine * Antiseptic ointment * Adhesive bandages, assorted sizes * Bug Repellent * Bulb irrigating syringe * Butterfly bandages * Chemical heat and cold packs * Dry - wash pads or wipes Diarrhea medicine * Gauze pads * Hydrocortisone cream * Mirror - small, unbreakable* Moleskin* Q - Tips * Safety pins 2 * Scissors or a good survival tool w/cutters * Sunscreen * Triangular bandage * Tweezers* Small Flashlight Many companies offer good First Aid kits for outdoor enthusiasts. First Aid kits come in a wide range of prices and types. Buying a couple of kits should meet your daily as well your outdoor needs. While preparing for a trip, gather all the information possible on the area and be aware of any special considerations of members in your party. Contact local officials or park personnel so they can help you identify any additional First Aid considerations.

The following organizations offer training in many areas of First Aid: The American Red Cross, (508-372-6871) the Appalachian Mountain Club, (603-466-2727, M - F, 9-5) the Wilmington Recreation Department, (658-4270). A few hours of First Aid training can make a lifetime of difference.

Tewksbury youth hoop

In the recently played seventh annual New England Tapoff Basketball Tournament at Reading High School, the Tewksbury seventh grade boys basketball team went 4-0 defeating teams from Medfield, Newton, Bedford and North Reading.

This tournament is open for boys and girls from fifth to eighth grade (over 60 teams) operating over four weekends in November at four various locations. This is the third year that Tewksbury has participated in this tournament.

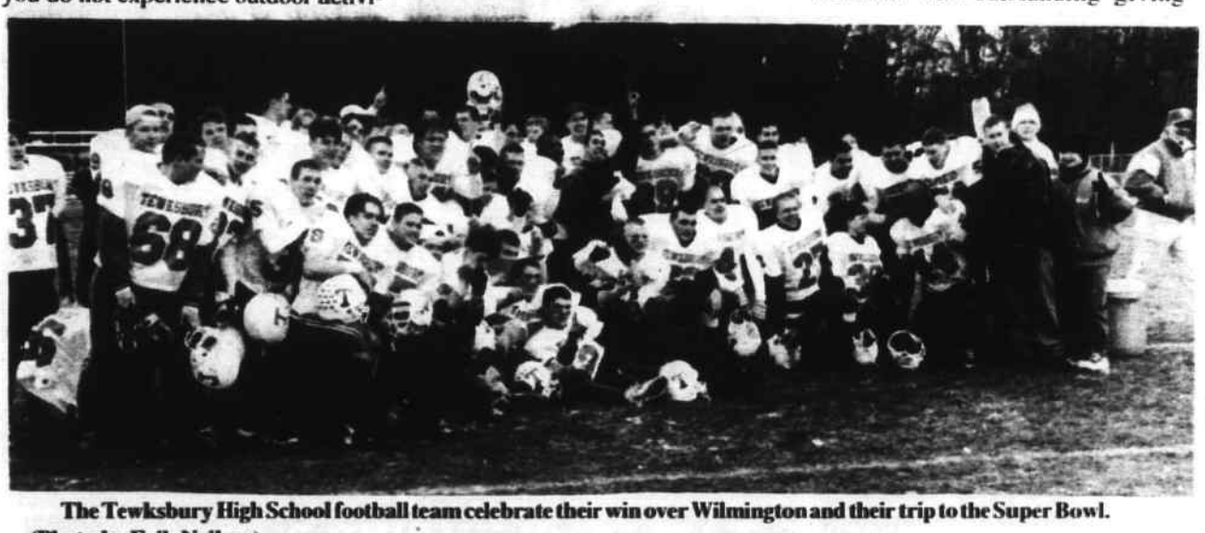

In the first game, Tewksbury defeated a scrappy Medfield team 58-48. Mike Bordenaro and Jon Adams were on fire leading Tewksbury with 22 points and 12 points respectively. The rebounding of Dave Scibilia and Billy Sullivan was outstanding giving Medfield only one shot at the basket.

Next, Newton was no match for Tewksbury as they went down 46-36.

This contest was highlighted by Tewksbury's inside game as Andrew Imbrglio was immense with 22 points. Kyle Ritchie and Kenny Mcharg chipped in with aggressive play at both the offensive and defensive ends of the floor. A tough Bedford team kept it close in the first half of game three but Tewksbury went on a 15-0 run at the beginning of the second half to ice this victory, 43-35.

This team effort was led the hustle and desire of John Muccio, Matt McGinnis and James McCarthy as Bedford became Tewksbury's third victim. The final game was especially sweet for Tewksbury as they crushed North Reading, 52-33, who was previously undefeated in the tournament. Again, everyone contributed in this game but the play of Jason DiPrimio (eight points) and intensity of John Harrison was instrumental in the victory.

Tewksbury has three boys travelling teams (six, seven, eight grades) participating in the Merrimack Valley league. The home games are played at Northmeadow Fitness Club. The seventh grade's first game will be at home on Friday, December 6 at 7 p.m. against Wilmington. The head coach for the seventh grade team is Tom Imbriglio assisted by Mike Bordenaro and Rich DiPrimio.

Dorothy R. Young
dean of women at Drexel U.

Dorothy Rice Young, retired Dean of Women at Drexel University in Philadelphia, died November 27, 1996, after a very brief illness. Mrs. Young, formerly of 169 High Street, Portland, Maine, celebrated her 100th birthday on October 16 at the Wilmington Woods Nursing Home where she was a resident since May of 1993.

Prior to living in Portland, Mrs. Young made her home in South Deerfield, Mass., and Deer Isle, Maine for many years after her retirement in 1965.

At Drexel, in addition to being Dean of Women from 1945-1965, she was Foreign Student Advisor, becoming lasting friends with young people from around the world.

Born in Wilbraham, Mass., Dorothy was the eldest of eight children. She is survived by one brother, Laurence A. Rice and his wife, Christa, of Rush, New York and several nieces and nephews and their families, including Marshall L. Rice, Sr., of Deer Isle, Maine; Laurence D. Rice, Virginia Rice Swenson of Norfolk, Mass; Swenson of Norfolk, Mass; Nancy Hale of Wilmington; a sister-in-law, Julia White of Greenfield; a great-niece, Tracy Egelston and family, Jim White, Brian Leudesdorf, and Laurel White of Lunenburg; a great-nephew, Mark Egleston and wife, Elyse, of Conn., and cousins in the Logan family, Christopher, Richard and Patricia and their families; no longer living are her sister Pauline Rice Waterman, and brothers Harold, John, Charles, David, and Francis.

Mrs. Young graduated from Westfield Academy (now Westfield State College), and taught school until her marriage to Frederick C. Young in 1924, when she took up residence in Westport, Conn. She received her Bachelor of Science Degree at New York University in 1933. After her husband's death in the 1930's, Mrs. Young continued her education, earning her Master of Arts at Columbia University in 1941, and continuing her studies at Berkeley. She served as Director of Residence at Woman's College in North Carolina, 1941-43; and Assistant Dean of Women at Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Penn., 1944-45. She was also a member of the World Affairs Council, AAUW, Freedom House, and League of Women Voters.

In the 50's, she was active in campaigning for Eisenhower for President and was appointed by him to serve on a monetary committee in Germany. In addition to her academic and political pursuits, she was an accomplished poet and writer, and took part in writing workshops in Mexico and other places. Over the years she traveled widely in Italy, Ireland, Germany, and Mexico, as well as in the United States,where the State of Maine, by the ocean, was her favorite spot. She was once described as having "presence." That she did. She will be sadly missed and fondly remembered.

A memorial service will be held Wednesday, Dec. 11 at 11 a.m. at the Nichols Funeral Home in Wilmington.

"Sharing is Caring"

To help the Salvation Army

9th year for M.E. Santa

The Middlesex East Santa has set up his red kettle and is now accepting contributions on behalf of the Salvation Army to benefit the needy this holiday season.

For the past nine years, the Middlesex East Santa has donated more than $3,000 each year to local families through the Salvation Army.

This has been made possible by the generous support of readers of the popular Middlesex East supplement, which appears in Wednesday newspapers.

The Middlesex East Santa is an ideal way for individuals to contribute to the Salvation Army and help those less fortunate.

It's more important than ever with a declining number of stores allowing the Salvation Army to collect donations on their premises.

"So many are in need this time of year," says Capt. Herb Thomas, the Divisional Commander at the Boston Salvation Army office on Berkeley Street.

"The cold weather has already begun to bring in families looking for blankets and winter coats and even more are in need of nourishing food for their children. Each day we rejoice for the good friends we have, who allow us to help those needy people each day," Thomas added.

So, to help do its part M.E. asks that donations be sent to:

Bell Ringers are needed locally

It's December, a time to share with others during this holiday season.

For the next five weeks, Middlesex East publications will be supporting The Salvation Army through its "M.E. Santa," a program now in its ninth year.

"We've been particularly thankful to Middlesex East for their fine efforts," says Capt. Herb Thomas, the Service Extension director, who coordinates all greater Boston fund raising for this time of year.

The Salvation Army, headquartered on Berkeley Street in Boston, has an "army" of volunteers throughout the area who put in an extra special effort this time of year.

In turn, The Salvation Army breaks down its professional help to areas like North Reading and Lynnfield, Wilmington and Reading, Woburn and Burlington, and areas generally overlapped by the circulation of the Middlesex East newspapers.

Plan strategy to minimize taxes

If you're retired and dreading tax season, you're not alone. Taxes can now take a big bite out of even the moderate incomes of many retiree's who are receiving Social Security. That's why it's important to use strategic planning in order to minimize your tax burden. And tax planning that includes a charitable contribution to fight cancer does a lot of good at the same time as helping to lower your taxes.

If you have a moderate income in addition to your Social Security benefits, current tax laws could reduce that income considerably by taxing as much as 85 percent of your 1996 Social Security benefits. And if those extra taxes mean you need to generate additional income by selling appreciated property, such as stocks or real estate, you could find yourself facing a harsh capital gains tax, and possibly an even higher tax on your Social Security benefits.

How can you minimize taxes and increase your own personal financial security? A free booklet, Tax Strategies to Increase Your Retirement Income, can help you keep more of your retirement income this year and in future years. The booklet covers important areas where you may be able to minimize your taxes, including Social Security benefits, itemized deductions and IRAs. It also offers tips on keeping gains on your personal residence and avoiding a capital gains tax.

Informative and easy-to-read, Tax Strategies also discusses charitable remainder trust and charitable gift annuities as financial planning techniques that may dramatically increase your spendable income and also reduce your current income tax liability.

To receive a free copy of Tax Strategies to Increase Your Retirement Income, write the American Institute for Cancer Research, Dept. TXS-PR, Washington, DC 20069; or call toll-free 1-800-843-8114, extension 754, weekdays, 9am to 5pm Eastern time.

Spotlight on Seniors

Does aging affect sleep?

How much do you know about the effects of aging on sleep? To test your knowledge, answer the following questions true of false:

Sleep problems are an unavoidable part of the aging process.

Poor sleep has no serious consequences.

These statements are accepted as true by many older adults, but they are actually myths.

Although more than half of all Americans over age 65 suffer from sleep problems, many of them may not have to.

"Many people incorrectly believe that as you age, you need less sleep," says Martin Scharf, Ph.D., director of The Center for Research in Sleep Disorders in Cincinnati. "Total sleep requirements change very little with age. However, because the lighter stages of sleep increase and the deeper stages of seep decrease as adults age, older people may wake up more often during the night."

Because sleep problems are so common, many adults feel they must accept poor sleep as a normal part of growing older. But sleep troubles are not always an inevitable result of aging.

"A variety of factors can lead to restless nights for older adults, including retirement, and other changes in daily activity, death of a spouse or friends, and increased use of medication for other health problems," says Dr. Scharf. He explains that poor sleep can also be caused by underlying sleep disorders such as sleep apnea, a condition in which breathing is interrupted numerous times during the night, or periodic limb movement common condition in which repeated leg or arm twitches make sleep restless and disturbed.

Many people believe that obtaining less than adequate sleep will not seriously impact their lives. According to Dr. Scharf, however, poor sleep can indeed have serious consequences including lowering one's threshold for pain, decreasing ability to manage stress and to concentrate, and possibly affecting memory and the body's immune system.

The good news is that there are many steps older adults can take to improve sleep and, in turn, lead more enjoyable lives. The first is to speak with your doctor. He or she can determine the cause of your sleep troubles and provide appropriate treatment. If your sleep problem is caused by a medical condition, that problem may need to be treated first or at the same time as your sleep troubles. If you have difficulty falling or staying asleep, your doctor may recommend lifestyles changes, such as cutting down on napping, consuming less caffeine, and exercising more during the day. Changes in sleep habits may be combined with appropriate short term use of a sleep medication to help break the cycle of sleeplessness.

To receive more information on sleep and aging and tips for getting a good night's sleep, call 800-SHUTEYE and request the free brochure, Sleep Well! Facts for Adults Over 50, produced by the National Council on the Aging, Inc., and Searle, a worldwide developer of pharmaceuticals and other health care solutions. Brochures on other sleep related topics are also available through the hotline.

About The Towns by Phyllis Nissen

A CALMing influence in Wakefield

Toward a 'livable' municipality

"A group of residents is organizing a Wakefield chapter of CALM, the Citizens Alliance for Livable Municipalities," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The organization's goal is to promote a higher quality of life in Wakefield through the creation of a safer, more environmentally friendly roadway system.

"According to CALM, Wakefield has suffered a decline in its living standards as a result of excessive traffic.

"The organization advocates the reduction of both traffic speed and quantity, curbing the demand for parking, and improving conditions for walkers and cyclists...Kirk Barrett, one of CALM Wakefield's founders, addressed the Friends of Lake Quannapowitt, and detailed plans for improving traffic problems in the Lake area.

"His plans were generally well-received by the FOLQ, although a Mass Highway representative present at the meeting called some of his suggestions impractical.

"CALM advocates the introduction of a number of traffic slowing devices in Wakefield, including the use of so-called speed 'humps.'

"Speed humps are a lower, wider version of speed bumps, which engineers maintain have all the speed reduction benefits of the more conventional bump, but won't damage cars the way a bump can.

"The Mass Highway representative expressed the reluctance of his organization to place any kind of raised obstruction on a main roadway.

"Speed humps are currently being tested in nine locations throughout New York City. Residents there, however, according to the 'New York Times', find the devices dubious.

"Rather than effectively reducing overall traffic speed, they say, the humps only cause drivers to slow down immediately prior to the obstacles, and return immediately to their original speed afterward.

"The speed hump, of course, was only one of several possible traffic slowing devices mentioned by CALM. The group's literature, distributed at the FOLQ meeting also mentions the traffic-slowing techniques of narrowing roads, putting sharp bends, and the establishment of 'pinch-points' - areas where the sidewalks and curbs jut out into the streets, forcing drivers to decelerate...."

An intimate "Christmas Carol" presented by Merrimack Rep

The most popular holiday story of all time, A Christmas Carol by Charles Dickens, returns to the stage at Merrimack Repertory Theatre for 11 performances. In a new production, conceived by Producing Artistic Director David G. Kent and adapted for the stage by David Zoffoli, Associate Director at MRT, the award-winning theatre brings a more intimate and more joyful version of this classic holiday ghost story to life. There will be only 11 public performances of A Christmas Carol beginning December 6 and running through December 22.

"It has been almost four years since Merrimack Repertory Theatre last presented a production of A Christmas Carol," says Producing Artistic Director David G. Kent. "Many of the previous productions had become swallowed up in a flashy Victorian parade. Our desire this season is to restore the classic intent of this tale and present it in a framework similar to the way Dickens himself traveled the world telling this story."

Tickets for A Christmas Carol may be purchased at the Merrimack Repertory Theatre box office, 50 E. Merrimack Street, Lowell, MA or by calling 508-454-3926.

Performances are Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays and ticket prices are $18 for adults and $12 for children 12 and under. Subscribers to Merrimack Repertory Theatre can purchase tickets for $10.

The 2 p.m. performance on Saturday, Dec. 7 has been designated as a pay-what-you-can performance at Merrimack Repertory Theatre. Fifty seats have been set aside and may be purchased for whatever amount the customer feels they can afford. These tickets are limited to two per person and can only be purchased at the box office. Pay-What-You-Can tickets go on sale Monday, Dec. 2.

Ghosts from Woburn

"Same state, similar subject, different story line," notes the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The latest production from Woburn natives Frederick Zollo and Nicholas Paleologos, entitled ' Ghost of Mississippi,' is set to be released Dec. 20.

"The production crew earned critical acclaim in 1988 for a previous release entitled 'Mississippi Burning.'

"However, the new movie is not a sequel or follow-up to the first movie.

"While the subject matter is still civil rights in the South, the latest release is based on a book about the murder of black civil rights leader Medgar Evers, killed when shot in June of 1963.

"The suspect in the case, a white male, Byron de la Beckwith, however, was never convicted until just two years ago, some 31 years later.

"Those who have seen the final cut of the film are pleased with the outcome."

How about you?

People share their 'Traditions'

In today's issue and over the next several weeks Middlesex East will share some of the many "Traditions" that families and individuals have developed over the years and we would like very much to include your personal tradition and share it with our readers.

Among those we share today include a family's Christmas card that has been sent back and forth every year since 1953 and a very special star that sits atop a family's Christmas tree.

There are many others and hopefully with the help of our readership there will be more in the weeks ahead.

Please join us and share your cherished memories too. We won't print your name if you would prefer not to and don't worry about a misspelled word or proper grammar. It's the message we are interested in.

Tell us about your family traditions, special memories of Christmas, Hanukkah, or Thanksgiving, or share with us how you manage to keep the magic and spirit in the holidays.

Mail your "Tradition" to:
Middlesex East
PO Box 240
Reading, MA 01867.

Dear Middlesex East,

It was 1953. Just as a joke, I mailed the Christmas card my family received from my brother and his family ... back to them!

Little did I know what I had started, nor did I know what eventually was going to take place.

We have been sending the same card back and forth now for 38 years! Despite the fact that we have had to add extra pages to it so we could add our greeting and sometime funny remarks.

Although it is showing signs of wear ... a bit yellow, it is still holding on.

We shall continue this Christmas Tradition until it falls apart.

This is my year to send it back to my brother's family, along with my love and best wishes for another Merry Christmas and a Happy and Healthy New Year!

Oh yes, I'll be adding something comical as usual. They expect that!

Barbara J. Ritchie
Reading

Dear Middlesex East,

My family's Christmas tradition began 12 years ago upon the birth of my oldest daughter, Kate. My husband and I didn't have a special star for our tree, so I made one out of cloth and stuffing.

Every year I sew a gold or silver charm on the star to represent some important event that happened that year.

Two golden bells were sewn on the star the year Kate started school. When my second child, Sara was born, Kate selected a tiny diapered bear to adorn our Christmas star. When the girls grow up, I will split up the charms and make two new stars.

Sincerely,
Debbie H. McCulley

Bell Ringers From S-1

now is for bell ringers," says Kim McGhee-Walford, the field representative of the Service Extension department. "We especially need them for the Burlington Mall area."

A week ago, there was a call to kettle by McGhee-Walford for bell ringers. A special meeting was held at the Burlington Council on Aging at 61 Center St. in Burlington. And, meeting in the Kelley wing, everyone became acquainted with The Salvation Army, its needs, and the role of the bell ringers.

"We still need more bell ringers," notes McGhee-Walford. "It's a big area we cover and we can use everyone we can get."

(Those interested in being bell ringers should call Kim McGhee-Walford, 617-338-4155 Ext. 522)

School Notes by Phyllis Nissen

About time...and learning

Bravo, North Reading!

"The Middle School is piloting an innovative program to increase instructional time - and to decrease so-called study halls - for some of its students," notes the "North Reading Transcript."

"Under state Time and Learning regulations, schools throughout the state will be required next year to meet specific instructional time requirements.

"The Middle School is required only to meet the 900 instructional hours quota set for elementary schools. This is significantly less than the 990 hours of instructional time, which does not include free periods or lunch periods, required of high school students.

"However, the Middle School, which easily meets its requirements, is still looking to increase the time students actually spend learning. The feeling being, according to Superintendent Dr. David Troughton, that it should fall somewhere in the 'middle' of the elementary and high school quotas, or at about 920 to 950 instructional hours annually."....

In the middle

"To accomplish this, a group of teachers have devised a pilot program in which students spend free periods in structured learning environments rather than in unstructured study halls," continues the North Reading Transcript." (please see above)

"The class of students targeted for this program is seventh graders as that group, because of scheduling, has traditionally had the most assigned study hall periods, according to Troughton.

"Sixth graders have fuller schedules because of the way their teaching teams are organized and eighth graders have few study halls because most have full class loads, which for many includes a foreign language. Some eighth graders who do not take a foreign language may also participate in the program...."

'Structured Learning Time'

"Under the program, appropriately termed 'Structured Learning Time,' or SLT as it is called, students report to the Large Group Room during a 'free' period and must choose from a number of pre-planned activities," continues the "North Reading Transcript." (please see above)

"The activities include work associated with some of their core classes, work which is not homework but must be completed in SLT at some point during the quarter. Students may also choose to go to the library and complete a reading assignment through the Electronic Book Shelf (EBS), a program all are familiar with."

CNN in NR

"Another option, which ties in with their Social Studies classes and current events, is the opportunity to watch a daily news program taped from the Cable News Network (CNN) and geared specifically to middle school students," continues the "North Reading Transcript."

"Troughton called the program a 'quality' program and said students are required to fill out a questionnaire after the program answering questions relating to its content. There are no commercials.

"Troughton said students must fill out logs charting how they spent their SLT period and must vary which activities they participate in.

"The superintendent stressed the work students will be doing in SLT is not their homework, as he feels 'homework should be done at home.'

"The program was designed as part of a curriculum project by middle school teachers Kathy Hashian, David Elliott, Carolyn Harris and Pamela Clenney.

"The School Committee had positive reactions to the proposal and applauded efforts to increase instructional time for students. Troughton said the program will be reviewed, and modified if necessary, throughout the year."

Boston Children's Theatre opens season with "Narnia"

The Boston Children's Theatre (BCT), the oldest continuing theatre company in Boston, announces its mainstage season for 1996-97. Narnia, a happy, hopeful, holiday musical story based on the C. S. Lewis classic, The Lion, the Witch, and the Wardrobe, opens the season with performances on December 7-8, 14-15, 21-23, 27-30 at the C. Walsh Theatre at Suffolk University, 55 Temple St. in Boston (behind the State House on Beacon Hill).

Directed by BCT Executive Director Patricia M. Gleeson, Narnia tells of a town where it is always winter, but never Christmas because of a spell cast by the White Witch. Four English school children travel through a wardrobe to this charming land, where they are helped to break the spell by Aslan, the gentle lion. The book of Narnia is by Jules Tasca, music by Thomas Tierney, and lyrics by Ted Drachman.

Cast members of Narnia, who are between the ages of 9 and 18, are drawn from every neighborhood in Boston and outlying towns to a radius of 60 miles.

The winter mainstage production, which will be performed at the C. Walsh Theatre on February 8-9, 15-16, and 18-22, is the classic fairy tale Snow White. The spring production is Meredith Wilson's delightful The Music Man, which runs April 19-20, 22-27 and May 3 and 10. School day performances are also available for each production.

A subscription for the three play season is $25 and $30. Single tickets are $10 and $12; group rates are $9 and $11.

For additional information on tickets for mainstage productions or any of its programs, call the BCT at (617) 424-6634, or write Boston Children's Theatre, 647 Boylston St., 4th Floor, Boston, MA 02116.

Toys for Tots in full swing

Again this year, the Marines Toys for Tots campaign to deliver new toys to needy children is in full swing. Through the public's generosity and support for the less fortunate, happy smiles can be put on the faces of many youngsters when Christmas morning rolls around. A child who has learned to live without the little extras that so many other kids enjoy, will thrill to that special new toy that you, your family or group donate today.

New non-violent, unwrapped, toys can be brought to the local host retailer, and check donations can also be made. Checks should be sent to "Toys for Tots Foundation," B.O. Box 391, South Weymouth, MA 02190.

All toy contributions will be distributed in the community where the toys are collected. A local drop-off center in Reading is at Certainly Wood, 39-41 Lincoln Street, across from the railroad depot. Certainly Wood in Salem, NH at 326 S. Broadway, Route 28.

For more information, call Certainly Wood at 617-944-7400. Deadline for toy donations is December 16.

Disturbing trends in children's toys

With the holiday season fast approaching, parents will soon be perusing store shelves for the hottest toys on their children's wish lists. While toys may seem like innocuous playthings, many of them epitomize disturbing trends in marketing to children.

"The toy industry is increasingly marketing violence and sex to children and promoting gender stereotypes to children at very young ages," says Diane Levin, Wheelock College professor of education and author of several books on how media, toys, and popular culture socialize children into a culture of violence. She points to several trends in toy marketing that should concern parents, particularly of children under 8 years old.

Creating single-use toys for young children based on characters in popular movies and TV shows that are oriented toward adult audiences. These highly realistic replicas of TV and movie characters limit children's creativity and encourage them to mimic the violence and gender stereotypes that are often prevalent in these forms of entertainment.

Developing increasingly grotesque toys to capture children's shortening attention span. Toy manufacturers exploit children's natural curiosity about gross things or scary concepts by producing more macabre or shocking versions of previous year's toy. These toys confuse children about their natural fears and concerns about the adult world and often desensitize them to the violence that the toys promote.

Toys marketed to girls are becoming increasingly sexualized. Dolls, games and accessories that encourage young girls to focus solely on physical appearance and boys' appraisal of them promote unrealistic expectations about gender rolls. They also blur the line between adulthood and childhood by encouraging little girls to look sexy.

Increasingly linking toys to computers. Computer games, often based on TV shows or movies distract children from using their own imagination and engaging in hands-on play.

There are fewer realistic-looking toy weapons on the market, but they are being replaced by launching devices that use soft projectiles (balls, darts, etc.) as "ammunition." These toys are designed and marketed as weapons and encourage children, particularly boys, to think of violence as play.

As a cofounder of Teachers for Resisting Unhealthy Children's Entertainment (TRUCE), Dr. Levin and other TRUCE members have compiled three annual toy lists for 1996: Toys to Avoid(commercial toys that promote violence and/or stereotypes and limit creativity), Toys That Promote Healthy and Creative Play (commercial toys that appeal to children's imagination), and Shoe Box Toys (toy kits that children and parents can create using a shoe box and simple items often found around the house). To receive copies of these lists, see examples of the toys, or arrange interviews, please contact Dr. Diane Levin at 617-734-5200, ext. 229.

Woodchips

ANTHONY MANCONI

Woodchips salutes, 'Rotarians' who are dedicated to the humanitarian task of eradicating polio in the world. I remember when in the 1930's and '40's parents were justifiably terrified by the outbreak of polio in many areas of the United States. Prayer should be said daily, (lest we forget), for two 'Giants' in the medical research, Dr. Jonas Salk and Dr. Albert Sabin. They developed vaccines that have given parents in America and the world a priceless gift.

It is 'Peace of Mind' that their children are spared the crippling effects of 'POLIO.' God Bless Rotarians everywhere for undertaking the "Herculean Task," of wanting to share that 'Peace and Tranquility' with all the children of the world.

Dennis Tully ran home and told his mother that he had been in a fight with Robert Farren. Fran Tully said, "Dennis don't you remember your Sunday School lesson of turning the 'OTHER Cheek' when someone hits you?" "Ya Ma," Dennis replied, "But, Robert hit me on the 'NOSE'!"

Roger Moore Sr. told me, "Chipper, if you are NOT the 'LEAD DOG' in a dog sled race, the scenery never changes."

Friendly advice, if you are a married man with two jobs, golf on Sundays, bowling on Wednesday and Friday nights, you are indeed, 'Busy as a Bee'. I hope you don't come home some night and find your, 'HONEY 'GONE.

I walked into my favorite, 'Thirst Parlor' and found Tony Stack hissing and moaning in his beer. "why so sad Tony?" I asked. "My wife doesn't appreciate me, does YOURS?" "I don't know," I replied, "I never heard her mention YOUR name."

The doctor called Blackie Vega up and said 'your Check bounced'. "So what?" Blackie said, "so did my Arthritis!"

My Aunt Nora won't tell anyone her age but at a recent birthday party for her, the candles cost more than the cake. At my birthday party, my relatives and friends sang, "Happy Birthday to YOU, YOU belong in a ZOO. You look like a monkey and WRITE like one TOO."

I said to Bank Manager John Addonizio, "The sign in the window says, Cashier Wanted,' I thought you hired one last week?" "Yes," John said, "he is the one I'm looking for. He is six foot tall and five thousand dollars SHORT."

Catherine Beaumont, Rep. Brad Jones and his fiancee Sheila Nicholas, Little School Teacher Irene Mercurio, Leanne Gregory, Wes Ladd, Deputy Fire Chief Robert McCabe, Firefighter Barry Galvin, Asst. Library Director Beth Kerrigan, Kristin Stewart, and Happy 20 years in North Reading, Priscilla Fitzgerald Missick all of NORTH READING.

Tobin Bridge Director, Mary Jane O'Meara, a Woodchips fan.

Some Hollywood movie producers intend to 'Phase Out' some old movie actors and actresses. In that regard a movie SCOUT has asked me for possible replacements for this area. I recommended the following, from Winthrop, Herb Silk as, Errol Flynn in, "Gentleman Jim Corbett" and Crystal O'Keefe as Marilyn Munroe in, "Men Prefer Blondes': Susan Leary as Maureen O'Hara and Sal Lamattina as John Wayne in "The Quiet Man." Susan and Sal are from East Boston.

From Revere, John Daigle as General George Patton and Ruth O'Leary as Bea Arthur in the "Golden Girls. From Medford, Fr. Dennis Nason as Bing Crosby in, "Going My Way," and Melissa Hurley as Ingrid Bergman in "Casablanca'. Arnie Goodman and Steve Quigley from Chelsea, Arnie as Knute Rockne in "The Four Horsemen of Notre Dame" and Steve as Lou Asner and more later.

Joe Ravida said to the manicurist, "How about going out to dinner with me tonight beautiful?" "I'm married," she replied."So-What?" Joe said, "Just call your husband up and tell him you are working LATE." "Tell him yourself!" she shouted, he's "'SHAVING YOU!"

I placed an ad in the Journal papers offering a $1,000 reward for the return of my lost Labrador Retriever. The next day I went to the newspaper office and found only Vicki Mucci there.

"Where's everybody?" I asked. Vicki smiled and said, "Neil Collins, Ed Colletta, Steve Quigley, Dave Procopio, Steve Olivieri, Missy Palladino, Maryann Nolan and Kelly Steinmetz are all out looking for your dog and I'm getting half the reward money for holding the FORT."

Folks, with the 'Peek-a-Boo dresses" see through blouses and, "Mini Skirts" there's no such thing as a "Blind Date" anymore.

Dicky Powers asked Father Dan, "is it a sin if I play golf on a Sunday?" Father Dan replied, "Dicky, I've seen you play golf and believe me it's a SIN any day you play."

Folks, Success in 'Relative'. The more Success the MORE Relatives.

Summers is Gone and Winter Draws on. I saw George Gould going out to get the morning paper on his front porch and he shouted to me, "Brr, it sure is cold this morning Chipper!" I don't know why you feel cold George, you have your winter underwear on." "How the heck do you know that?" "You forgot to put your pants on!"

"THE PAGES OF TIME'

Turn back the pages of time.
Bring back that old gang of mine.
Pals who I knew, Joe, Tom, and Sue,
are still in my memory.

Those days of roses and wine,
When we'd sing, "Sweet Adeline."
Facing life's trail with hope, trust and smiles,
No one was happier than we.

The gold is gone from our hair,
There are many silver threads there.
We're dreaming today but can't find a way, to "Turn back the pages of time."

Middlesex East Sports Athletes & Activities

BY PAUL FEELY

It isn't often that a small town turns out a athlete of world-class proportions, but when it does, it likes to celebrate.

Wakefield recently declared November 22 Marcia Pankratz Day in honor of Pankratz, who graduated from Wakefield High School in 1982 and has gone to compete for the United States Olympic Field Hockey team on two occasions.

She played in the 1988 games in Seoul, Korea, and then scored three goals playing this summer in Atlanta. She has also played in two Pan American Games and two World Games, competing in such locations as Russia, England, and South Africa.

A celebration in her honor was held at the Frank A. Charbonneau Fieldhouse in Wakefield on November 22, and Chairman of the Wakefield Board of Selectmen told a large crowd that Pankratz is "the epitome of dedication, ... desire and the epitome of what an athlete should be."

While attending Wakefield High, Pankratz also participated in basketball and track, but she rode a field hockey ticket to the University of Iowa. Before she was finished, she would become the school's third all-time leading scorer, and was named the Big Ten Conference's MVP in 1984. She was also named Big Ten Player of the Decade in 1992.

Some of the records that Pankratz set while playing at Wakefield remain unbroken after all this time. What also remains unbroken is the love she carries for her hometown and the people who supported her young athletic career.

"I've lived in places other than Wakefield over the years, but always, Wakefield has been my home," she told the crowd.

During the ceremony she presented the current WHS field hockey team with a jersey from the Atlanta Games.

CLEAR OF EYE and very active, the llamas await your visit to the South American exhibit at the Stone Zoo. (Carol Rocci photo)

Part III in a series

Meet the Stone Zoo animals

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

Mr. Boggs the black bear will probably give you a glowing report on the conditions he now lives under at the Stone Zoo.

For Major the polar bear, essentially nothing has changed in his 30-something years of residency at the zoo.

For the mouflon, the all-natural granite mountain is still the same and provides plenty of exercise. However, some changes have been made in the herd.

When the Stone Zoo closed in November 1991, many animals were transferred out to other zoos. When it reopened, due to the determination of the Friends of the Stone Zoo (aka Middlesex Fells Zoological Corporation), an all volunteer group of citizens from such diverse communities as Stoneham, Winchester, Medford, Woburn, Malden, Wakefield and Burlington among others, new animals were brought in to join the Colubus monkeys and the birds in the aviary that had not been transferred out.

A tour of the zoo showed the conditions that the new and old animals are living under are much better than before the zoo was forced to close due to a financial crunch with the Commonwealth of Massachusetts budget. At present the zoo has 11-exhibits

Mr. Boggs is one of the new exhibits (since it reopened). He was confiscated by the United States Fish and Wildlife Department during a raid in the western part of Massachusetts

Stone Zoo Curator of Education Tina Cross explained that when the six-year old animal was found, two years ago, it was in a cage so small it could hardly move. Now Boggs is in the former lion and tigers exhibit with plenty of room to move.

Cross said that rehabilitation was tried but the animal did not have enough natural instincts to survive in the wilds.

Boggs is a very friendly seeming bear, but remember it is a wild animal, and he loves attention. Although he looks lonely in his pen, one must remember that Boggs, like Major, is a loner by nature..

In the wild, both bears would be seen traveling alone except during mating season. Black bears, like Boggs, are usually found in mountainous and swampy areas throughout the United States. However, it is only those found in the East that have the black fur. Those in the West usually have a brown or cinnamon colored fur.

Major, who is actually owned by Worcester's New England Science Center, is the oldest resident of the Zoo. He has fathered two children, who along with the mother are kept in Worcester.

Major could probably tell many stories about the people that have passed through, but polar bears by nature are not very friendly animals. In fact they are probably the most ferocious of the bear family.

According to "A Taste of the Stone," a cookbook produced by the Friends, polar bears can be found in the most harsh regions of the Arctic. Because of the extreme weather conditions and scarce food supply, Major's brethren have developed special hunting techniques and physical adaptations to help in survival.

Among the physical changes are: the sharp claws to climb on ice; thick, hollow hairs to trap heat; and black skin that helps to absorb the heat into the skin.

Both bears are carnivores by nature but they can also be tempted to snack on vegetation that is natural to their areas.

During the Spring, Summer and early Fall, the Zoo has a petting area that is growing every year. The children are enchanted with the pygmy goats and lambs and other animals that are on exhibit.

The lambs that are exhibited are from Essex Agricultural Institute in Middleton. The goats were donated by three physicians associated with the nearby Boston Regional Medical Center.

Children visiting the Zoo are always amazed at the roaming peafowl that are in the walkways. They are part of the North American exhibit and act as a

"Smile Vision" now available

Dr. Paul F. Caselle, a Wilmington Dentist, is please to offer Smile Vision to his patients. Smile Vision allows patients to see how chipped and broken teeth or teeth with spaces can be transformed through the use of a computer into a beautiful smile.

Since the results one sees is a computer enhanced simulation of an ideal result, it is important to understand that it is impossible to duplicate these results in an actual clinical setting. This simulation however, serves a useful purpose in that it helps the patient communicate what they would like to achieve.

Dr. Paul F. Caselle

Many patients may be embarrassed by their smile or wish their teeth were different in some way. Smile Vision allows the patient and dentist to explore the possibilities. In some cases, patients may realize that the changes they would like to see are minor and easily achieved. Smile Vision allows patients to see themselves as others see them both before and after the smile is corrected.

If you have been delaying cosmetic dental treatment because you're not sure you'll like the results or not sure of what can be done, now is a perfect time to explore the possibilities of achieving the beautiful smile you always wanted. Dr. Caselle's office is located at Lucci's Plaza Rte 129 in Wilmington.

Isn't It Time You Had A Beautiful Smile?

Our office now offers Smile-Vision
This new exciting technology lets you see how the elimination of spaces between teeth or chipped and discolored teeth can be corrected to give you a beautiful smile.

Stone Zoo From S-13

roaming ambassador of the Zoo, greeting everyone in their own way and staying just out of the reach of youngsters that are too curious.

If need be they will fly back over the fence into the compound where the buffalo (bison) roam.

Across from bison are the Sand Hill cranes which are now on display, in their outdoor pen, all year round.

It was originally thought that the birds which are native to warmer climes, had to be kept inside during the winter. Two years ago, it was discovered that if they were left in the open, they would breed and the Zoo has experienced several births in the last two years.

The mouflon (European mountain sheep) are another exhibit that have been in the Zoo for many years. They are plentiful animals and therefore not salable to other zoos.

So that they do not breed too much, the male has been neutered. John Linehan, general curator of the Commonwealth Zoological Corporation (parent of the Stone and Boston's Franklin Park Zoo), said this will prevent the need to sell the animals to a broker, where their fate may be a hunting preserve.

Linehan said that the strategy at the Zoo will be to breed many animals with an eye toward eventually reintroducing them to the wild. This would especially be true for animals that are on the endangered species list.

The Aviary, which has been the beneficiary of funds raised by Continental Cablevision and others is a highpoint at the Zoo. Depending on which entrance you use you may enter from the bottom and exit at the top or just the opposite. Either way you will experience a view of 18 species or 77 different birds. Many are brightly colored, such as the parrots, others are songbirds. Many of them are on the wing through a forest of tropical trees that are mostly donations from companies that planted them in atria where they grew too tall.

Water fowl are also included in the exhibit as well as many rare species that are also being readied to be reintroduced into their natural habitat.

The bottom entrance to the aviary is also the new home to the yellow footed tortoise exhibit.

The future of the Aviary will include an underwater exhibit that will be constructed thanks to a private donation.

The two Colobus monkeys, who are brothers, seem to be rejuvenated by the activity going on at the Zoo and like to come out and play putting on a show of climbing skills for the visitors. Another active animal is the North American river otter.

The pen had to be redesigned to keep the agile creature from escaping.

The winter is a good time to keep an eye on the fishers that seem to be more active at this time of year.

The South American exhibit will hold your attention as you watch the llamas run with the rheas and the two of them interact with the capybaras and a Patagonian cavy.

Another interesting take for the young visitor is the educational center with its mini zoo of snakes and other reptiles, some of which can be touched.

Arrangements can be made for groups such as scouts or school groups and others to spend an overnight in the mini zoo. For more information call (617) 438-7604.

If you came late enough in the day, your visit could end with a visit to Santa's Castle and the new lighting display that has been relocated from Peabody this year. The display was on a private residence but became too elaborate and drew too many visitors for the dead end street where it was located.

No matter what your interest, it may already be at the Stone Zoo and if not yet, it may be coming within the next two years.

Cozy country home

Drive up to the white picket fence and glance at this charming Colonial. Be sure to look around, the landscaping includes fruit trees and is quite an eye catcher. Take the path to the side entrance and walk into an absolutely wonderful renovated home.

Make sure to look downward when you enter, as your reflection will shine through the gleaming wood floors throughout this house. Plenty of light shines through with open concept and many windows. Enjoy cooking up fabulous dinners in the brand new eat-in kitchen with oak cabinets. There is plenty of counter space to spread out. Cooking is made easier in this kitchen with an Amana electric stove and disposal, as well as a brand new Maytag dishwasher.

As you head upstairs, you will notice an open hall with three bedrooms all with wood floors. The second floor boasts a new bath with tiled shower and vinyl no wax floor. There is also a brand new renovated full bath downstairs.

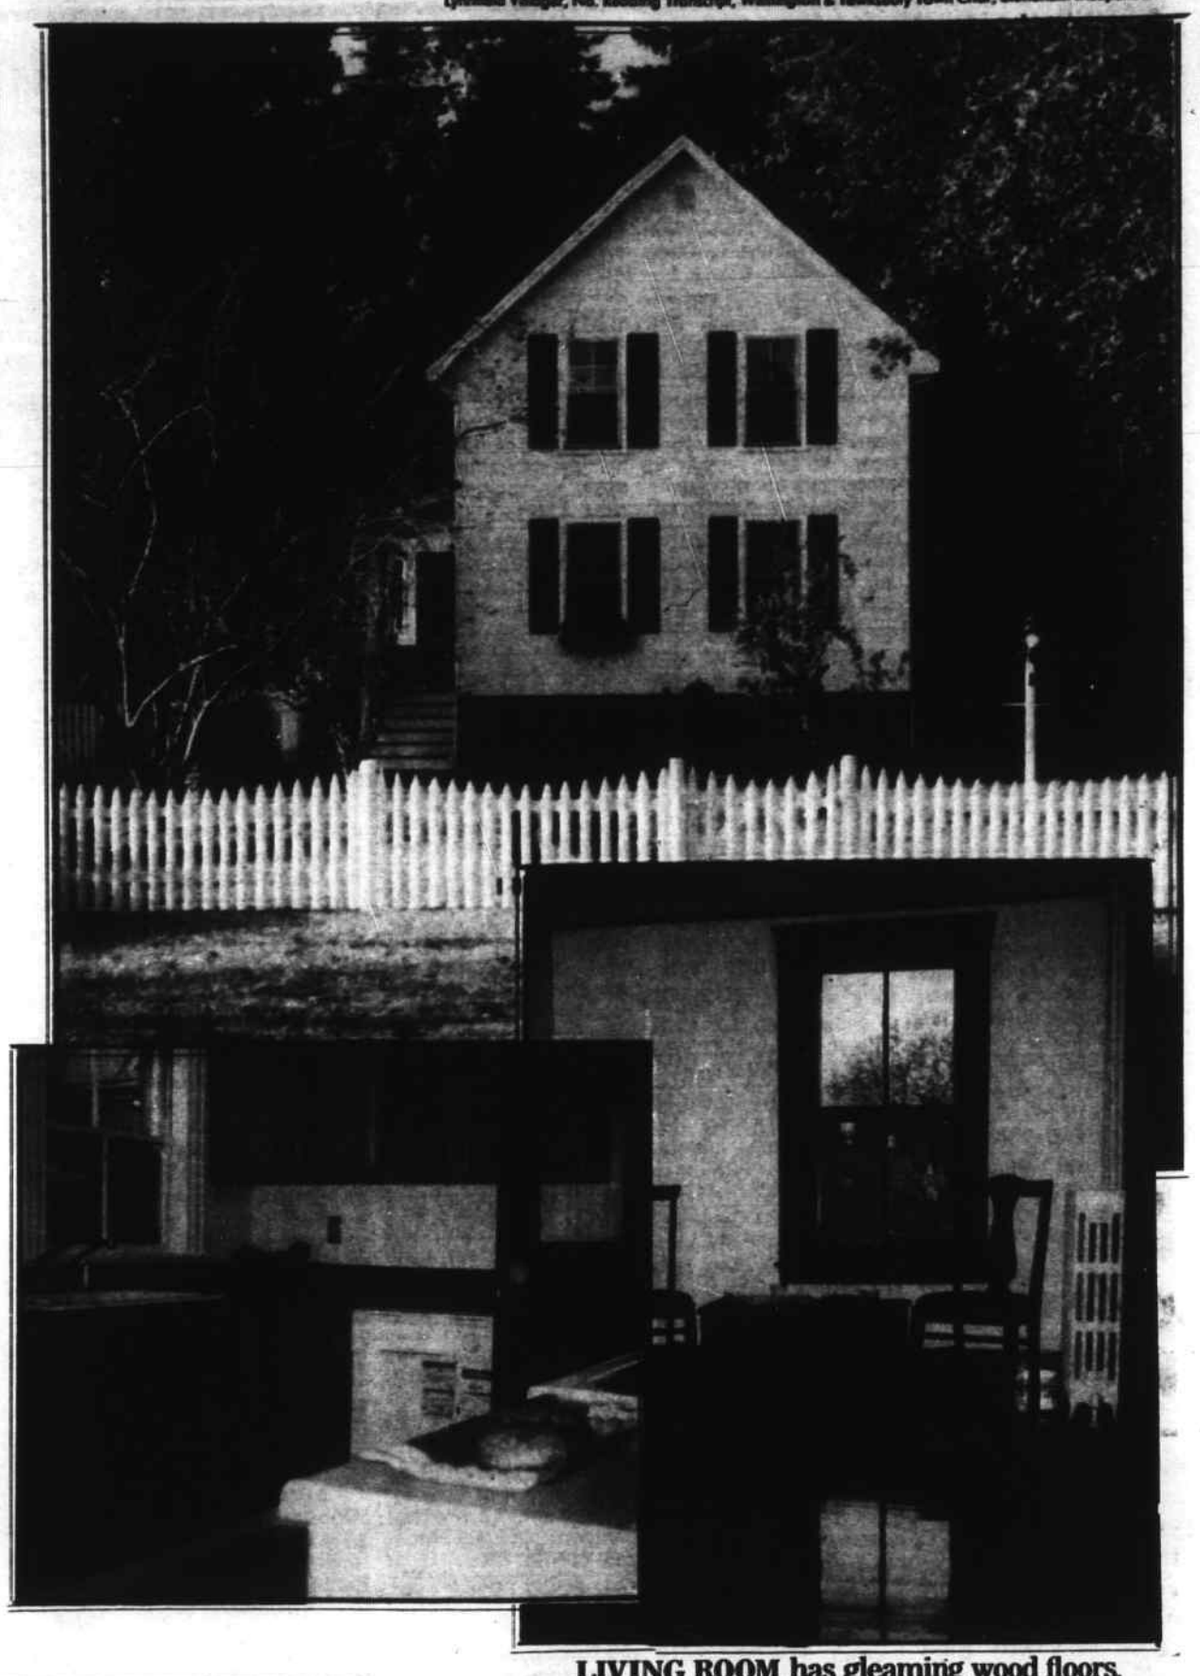

After being mesmerized by all this house has to offer, let it be known that this home has additional updates such as updated plumbing and 100 amp electric service, exterior and interior paint and seamless gutters. If that is not enough, new fascia boards, and covered porch can be added to the "update" list.
